VIENNA GREETS HITLER WILDLY

CHAMBERLAIN WARNS GERMANY FORCE WILL BE MET WITH FORCE

BRITISH BACKING TO FRANCE IF SHE GOES TO WAR NOT PROMISED, HOWEVER

LONDON, Mar. 14.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain today plainly warned Germany that Britain would expand her vast rearmament program to match force with force in answer to Reichsfuehrer Hitler's absorption of Austria.

However, the prime minister, in a vital statement of policy before a house of commons packed and tense, did not promise British backing to France if she should go to war to save Czechoslovakia from Pan-Germanism.

Chamberlain said Czechoslovakia had been in consultation with Britain but he refused to discuss what Britain would do to guard the central European republic for whose 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans Hitler had proclaimed himself protector.

Chamberlain bluntly rejected a German statement that Britain had no right to interest herself in Austrian independence, the German answer to British protests over the annexation.

Chamberlain insisted Britain "must always be interested in developments in central Europe.

Barn Konstantin von Neurath, head of Germany's new secret council, had written "the British government is not within its right in claiming the role of protector of Austria.

Reminded of 1914.

Parliament was reminded of the anxious pre-war days of 1914 by Winston Churchill, then First Lord of the Admiralty. He recalled what some have termed the tragic failure of Sir Edward Grey, foreign secretary then, to make "plain declarations" before the world war started.

Churchill asked the government to declare "a clear, precise" foreign policy "within a reasonably short time." He continued:

"If a number of states were assembled around Britain and France in a solemn treaty against aggression based upon the covenant of the League x x they might even now arrest this approaching war."

Cheers rang out when L. S. Amery, another conservative former head of the Admiralty said:

"Let us let France, Czechoslovakia and Germany in plain language know that the first German soldier or airplane that crosses the Czech border will have the whole might of this country against it."

LONDON, March 14.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain opened a portentous outline of his reshaped European policy today by challenging the German statement that Britain had "no right" to interest herself in Austrian independence.

The house of commons was packed and listened tensely.

The careworn prime minister disclosed for the first time that

CLARENCE DARROW, ATTORNEY FOR THE DEFENSE, IS DEAD

ROSE FROM HUMBLE BEGINNING TO NATION'S MOST FAMOUS LAWYER

CHICAGO, March 14.—(AP)—Clarence Darrow, who rose from a $30 a month country school teacher to the nation's most famous "attorney for the defense," was dead today.

The noted lawyer-philosopher died at his home here yesterday after a long illness with a heart ailment. He was 80 years old. With him at the end were his wife, Ruby, his son, Paul, and a sister, Mrs. Jennie Darrow Moore. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

During his half century in courts from one side of the country to the other, Darrow was always the defender, the pleader. He fought for the poor, the oppressed, the captive and the weak because, as he once said, "those found in prisons are practically always poor; it is a game where the dice are loaded and the victim is almost sure to lose."

His outstanding legal cases were in defense of Eugene V. Debs, many times socialist candidate for president; "Big Bill" Haywood and other officers of the Western Federation of Miners, charged with the slaying of former Gov. Frank Steunenberg of Idaho; Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, "thrill slayers" of little Bobby Franks; John T. Scopes in the Tennessee "monkey trial," and Mrs. Granville Fortescue and Lieut. Thomas Massie, U. S. N., tried for the slaying of a native in Honolulu.

Loeb-Leopold Case.

The Loeb-Leopold case was one of the most celebrated Darrow ever fought. It was in the summer of 1924 that Darrow defended the two sons of wealthy families for the

AUTO ACCIDENTS AND DROWNINGS ACCOUNT FOR SEVERAL DEATHS

FOURTEEN TEXANS DIED DURING WEEKEND; TWO LISTED AS SUICIDES

By The Associated Press

Drownings and automobile accidents accounted for more than half of the 14 persons who died by violence in Texas this last week-end. Two deaths were listed as suicides; two were crushed in oil well accidents; one was stabbed, another burned, and another crushed beneath a tractor.

The dead included:

L. C. Cumpton, about 60, killed near Lamesa when a tractor pinned him against the garage door.

Floyd T. Kinley, wild well fire fighter, injured as he attempted to curb a wild gas well at Goliad.

Betty Louise Hammill, 4, burned when a lighted match ignited papers at her home at Electra.

Troy Bohannon, Corpus Christi, service station operator, stabbed to death.

Mrs. Fred W. Axtell, 48, of near Christoval, injured in an automobile accident.

Ruth Poynter, 19, of near Dallas, killed in an automobile-train collision.

Mrs. Leah Katherine Kirk, 28, of Pelly, injured in an automobile accident on the Houston-Beaumont highway.

Dorothy Wakefield, 19-months, who drowned in a bathtub at her home at Dallas; Robert Ketner, 10, of Fort Worth, Trinity river drowning victim; Harold Turner, Kilgore war veteran who drowned in Caddo Lake, and David Thomas and Jasper Felich, of Houston and Galveston when the fishing boat sportsman capstized in Galveston channel.

Betrand Allen Adoue, 19, University of Texas student who was found dead in his Dallas home. Justice of the Peace W. J. Stovall rendered a verdict of suicide by asphyxiation.

C. D. Colwell, Jr., 25, rodeo performer, shot to death. Justice of the Peace Hal Hughes, at Fort Worth, where the shooting occurred, said officially Colwell shot himself, and tried to shoot his wife.

RESULT OF SCHOOL ELECTION CANVASSED BY COMMISSIONERS

FIRST TIME NUMBER YEARS COUNTY HOSPITAL IS REPORTED OUT DEBT

Results of a school district election, allowing of claims, and discussion of a concerted effort by counties in Texas to be represented before the state tax board on intangible taxes of pipelines were held at the regular meeting of the commissioners' court Monday morning. The court was scheduled to be in session Monday afternoon.

The results of a recent school district election held in the Oak Valley district, proposing to raise the school tax levy from 25 cents to 50 cents on the $100 valuation, showed there were 24 votes cast for the raising of the taxes and 28 votes against the proposition.

Asks Investigation.

W. U. Brown, local business man, appeared before the commissioners' court and stated a petition had been sent to the headquarters of the Texas highway patrol, protesting the alleged working together of the state highway patrol and W. G. Ivey constable of Richland, outside his precinct, in arresting persons for highway rules and regulations infractions. He asked the court to investigate the matter, maintaining that the arresting of drivers of over-loaded trucks as is now being done was hurting the business of filling stations and other establishments along Highway 75. He said many drivers were going over another route. Brown made it plain that there was no complaint against the highway patrolmen working this section. The court advised him an investigation into the situation would be made.

All claims except as noted on the claim docket were ordered paid.

HITLER IN TRIUMPHAL JOURNEY FROM MUNICH TO VIENNA

At right in car is Commander-in-Chief Wilhelm Keitel, and beside Hitler is the chauffeur. The swastika emblem in the background adorns the plane in which Hitler flew from Berlin to Munich. VINSON IN WARNING AGAINST EFFORT TO HAMPER PRESIDENT

DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE AT PRESENT DOOMED TO FAILURE, HE SAYS

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP)—Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the house naval committee, beginning debate on the administration's billion dollar naval expansion bill, warned congress today against tying the President's hands by insisting on a disarmament conference at this time.

Vinson expressed the belief nothing would contribute more to world peace than limitation of armaments but he declared emphatically a disarmament conference under present world conditions "is doomed to failure."

"Congress should not by legislation tie the hands of the President by saying that he must call a conference here and now," he added.

Opponents of the naval program had said they wanted to write into the measure some provision for an arms parley.

Vinson said he was confident President Roosevelt "will again endeavor to secure limitation of armaments" whenever the time is "opportune."

Discussing the need for the 46 new warships, 22 auxiliaries and 950 airplanes which the bill would authorize, Vinson said it would furnish the "minimum national defense necessary to attain our national security and preserve our republic."

He criticized opposition claims that this country has a secret understanding with the British government.

"There is not a scintilla of evidence to support such a charge," he shouted, "and I

HIGHWAY PATROL JOINS IN SEARCH FOR YOUNG BANDIT

CAR ANSWERING DESCRIPTION SIGHTED NEAR MARSHALL MONDAY

DALLAS, March 14.—(AP)—Captain Lee Miller of the state highway patrol said here at noon he planned to leave immediately with a group of patrolment for Jonesville, Texas, near Marshall where he said the young gunman who wounded three officers in South Texas Saturday was believed in hiding.

Capt. Miller said he had been informed an automobile without license plates, fitting the description of the one in which the gunman was reported in flight, was abandoned at Jonesville, on the highway from Marshall to Shreveport.

Officers believed the fugitive was Harry Wells, escaped Arkansas convict, who was suspected of robbing a bank at Luling of nearly $3,000 last week.

Capt. Miller said a number of patrolmen and other officers were

UNDERSECRETARY OF TREASURY DECLARES HOUSE TAX BILL WILL NOT PROVIDE ENOUGH REVENUE

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP)—Roswell McGill, undersecretary of the treasury, told the senate finance committee today that the tax revision bill, as it passed the house, would not provide sufficient revenue.

McGill testified at an executive session of the committee. Members said he suggested restoration of the tax on closely held corporations which was stricken out by the house.

McGill was reported to have said the treasury was "pretty well satisfied" with other corporate provisions of the bill, including the revised undistributed sudplus and capital gains taxes.

In the senate itself, debate proceeded on the government reorganization bill. The house took up, meanwhile, the billion-dollar naval expansion program.

A house labor subcommittee settled down to writing a new wage-hour bill after listening to other congressmen express their views on the subject for more than a week.

Chairman Ramspeck (D-Ga.), expressed belief a bill would be ready for the full committee within a week. He declined to predict what form the new bill would take.

Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) of the state finance committee said after its session that the treasury

LODGE DECLARES SENATE PROBE OF RELIEF WHITEWASH

REPUBLICAN SENATOR REFUSED PERMISSION TO BRING IN WITNESSES

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP)—Senator Lodge (D-Mass.), defeated in an effort to bring witnesses critical of the federal relief administration before the senate unemployment committee, charged today the hearings were a "whitewash" for federal relief.

The committee at a closed session voted 5 to 2 against Lodge's request for appearance of Ben Whitehurst, former WPA official, and Dr. Sanley High, former White House adviser.

Lodge said both would have criticized present federal relief administration if given a chance to testify.

"This is notice to the American people that no one will be permitted to make charges against the administration of WPA," Lodge said.

CARL ESTES DARES ALLRED MAKE RACE FOR A THIRD TERM

SAYS HE WILL ANNOUNCE AGAINST HIM IMMEDIATELY IN DALLAS STATEMENT

DALLAS, March 4.—(AP)—Carl L. Estes, Longview publisher, today "dared" Gov. Allred to run for a third term and added "if he announces, I will also announce my candidacy right behind him."

Estes, in a written statement, said "it wouldn't be fair for Bill Mcraw to run against the political twins—Allred and Thompson (E. O. Thompson, railroad commissioner.)"

The publisher's statement came a short time after Allred said in Austin he would announce his decision in regard to running for a third term later in the week. The governor said he had made up his mind.

"I'll take on the 'little man,' while McCraw and Thompson joust each other and, what's more, will release my platform simultaneously with the announcement," Estes said.

Third Producer Added Tool Area Henderson County

ATHENS, March 14.—(Spl.)—A third producer was added to the Tool producing field in northwest Henderson county Monday morning when the DeArmand and McMillan Dawdy No. 2 Dawdy was brought in after cement plug had been drilled shortly after midnight.

Observers indicated a belief the new producer was as good as the Hines and Hancock No. 1. After the well had thrown oil ocross the slush pit, controls were closed and the producer shut in until sufficient storage is available for a potential test.

Surface plugs were drilled Monday on the Wiggins and Hyde No. 1 C. J. Self about four miles south of Athens and this test will be closely watched to determine the formations in this new area. Surface plugs were also scheduled to be drilled on the J. C. Jones wildcat northwest of the Tool sector Monday.

According to plans announced several days ago the rig from the Dawdy No. 2 will be moved to the Tyler and Smith location about four miles northeast of the Tool producing group.

Wild Gasser.

Drilling contractor and crews on the Wheelock and Collins No. 1 F. B. Guerra in Starr county were still attempting to control a wild gasser about fifty miles northwest of Edinburg, and about three-quarters of a mile from another gasser that has defied all effort to cap it for several weeks.

The gas sand was encountered around 6610 late Sunday. Heavy damage was done to the equipment and the menace of fire added to the danger of efforts to bring the gas pressure under control.

COTTON, TOBACCO GROWERS VOTE FOR MARKETING QUOTAS

STILL PENALTY PLACED ON ALL WHO WOULD SELL OVER LIMIT ALLOTTED

WASHINGTON, Mar. 14.—(AP)—Cotton and tobacco growers have voted by overwhelming margins to levy stiff penalty taxes on producers who backslide under the new crop control program.

Farmers who paused in their chores through the South and in several western states on Saturday to cast ballots approved marketing provisions of the 1938 farm act.

As a result, agriculture department officials were arranging today to put this system into operation:

1. Each farmer will be told how much acreage he can plant to cotton and tobacco. The cotton farmer will be allowed to sell, free of penalty, all the cotton raised on his allotted acreage. The tobacco farmer, in addition to having his acreage fixed, will also be told later exactly how many pounds he can sell.

2. Any farmer planting more land to cotton than his allotted acreage will have to pay a penalty tax of two cents a pound when he markets cotton from this excess acreage. A farmer selling more tobacco than his marketing quota will pay a penalty of one-half the market price on this excess.

Nearly complete unofficial returns from the referenda showed:

For cotton marketing quotas, 1,189,828; against, 98,144. (Eligible to vote, 2,367,030).

For quotas on dark fire-cured tobacco, 38,346; against, 8,259.

For quotas on flue-cured tobacco, 213,487; against 33,806.

H. R. Tolley, AAA administrator, expressed pleasure over the vote.

"The farmers' decision to use quotas is, of course, a reflection on the seriousness of the problems faced by growers of cotton and flue-cured and dark tobacco," he said.

"But the big total vote x x x has been a genuine expression of the

HITLER'S TRIP TO VIENNA TRIUMPHAL MARCH OF EMPEROR

SUPREME RULER OF EXPANDED GERMANY GREETED JOYOUSLY AT ALL POINTS

By WADE WERNER

WITH HITLER, EN ROUTE TO VIENNA, March 14.—(AP)—Aloph Hitler, supreme commander of Germany's expanded might, swiftly neared Vienna this afternoon

His triumphal progress carried him through cheering, flag-waving throngs, promise of the vast welcome preparing for him in the capital of annexed Austria.

Behind him moved all the motorized accoutrements of war.

The fuehrer, after a tumultuous send-off by 60,000 cheering citizens in the streets of Linz, where he had halted since Saturday, motored from town to town through the romantic Austrian countryside.

Under clear blue skies his big six-wheeler car sped along a winding highway, through rolling green hills.

With him were his generals. Behind him came some 20 cars carrying German police.

State Announced Ready In Trial Of A. R. Tickle

The State announced ready Monday morning in the case of the State of Texas vs. A. R. Tickle, charged by indictment with murder. The defense attorneys were given until 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon by District Judge Wayne R. Howell to make an announcement.

Tickle, former city detective, was indicted in connection with the fatal shooting of Nolle Cook, ex-convict, in East Corsicana last year. On a former trial in December, a hung jury resulted.

A special venire of prospective jurors are on hand in addition to the regular jury for the week.

The state is represented by Cleo G. Miller and J. C. Jacobs, criminal district attorney and assistant, respectively. Ramsey Cox, appointed by Judge Howell, and Lovett and Lovett are representing the defendant. J. C. Roe, now assistant criminal district attorney in charge of delinquent tax matters, was the court-appointed attorney at Tickle's previous trial.

MILLION SHOUTING, FLAG-WAVING FOLK WELCOMES FUEHRER

DICTATOR DECLARES NO ONE CAN SHATTER REICH AS IT STANDS TODAY

VIENNA, Mar. 14.—(AP)—Adolph Hitler came in triumph to Vienna today and to a shouting throng that greeted him declared, "No force on earth can shake us!"

Fully a million shouting, flag-waving Viennese greeted the Fuehrer as he rode into the capital of the German state he has absorbed into his expanded German Reich.

To more than 100,000 hysterical followers thronging the square before his hotel, he shouted:

"The German Reich as it stands today is inviolable; no one can shatter it!"

Hitler apparently had not intended to speak until tomorrow, when at 11 a. m. he will address Vienna and the German world from the Heroes' Square.

But the crowd that called him again and again to the balcony of his hotel suite would not be denied.

"German compatriots," he began his impromptu speech, "I have felt in the last few days all the emotions which now stir you.

"This has been an historical change and the entire German people feel your emotions.

"Not two million people in one city but 75 million people in one nation are stirred to the depths of feeling which you now are demonstrating.

Deeply Stirred

"I am deeply stirred by this historic change.

"You all live up to your oath, all of you from Koenigsburg to Hamburg and down to Vienna, you do so in deepest devotion."

Demonstrations before the hotel lasted more than three hours. The crowds repeatly broke into "Deutschland Ueber Alles" — the Reich anthem — and the "Horst Wessel" song of Nazidom.

With, or shortly after, Hitler came most of his chief German lieutenants. Heinrich Himmler, chief of all German police, rode in his motor cavalcade. Joachim von Ribbentrop, his foreign minister, and Franz von Papen, the ambassador who helped prepare the Austrian coup, arrived by plane from Berlin.

Also arriving was Viktor Lutze, chief of staff of the Fuehrer S. S. Blackshirts and S. A. Brownshirts (Nazi guard units), 59 incorporate the Austrian S. S. and S. A. into the German.

(Also en route from Munich was Julius Streicher, the Reich's chief Jew baiter.)

GOVERNOR ALLRED HAS MADE UP MIND ON FUTURE COURSE

WILL NOT GIVE ANY INKLING OF ITS FORM AS THE PRESENT, HOWEVER

AUSTIN, March 14.—(AP)—Governor James V. Allred said today he had made up his mind whether or to run for a third term but would not announce the decision until later in the week.

The governor had returned to his office after a week of travel in West and North Texas and several days of "meditation" at the Mineral Wells health resort.

"Have you come to a decision as what you will do?" He was asked at his regular press conference.

"Yes," he replied, "I think so.'

"Why not make the announcement today?"

"I want to talk to a few more people."

One reason for the delay in announcement, he said, was the form of his statement. He said he had not decided whether to make it long or short.

The governor seemed to enjoy the atmosphere of suspense created by his declaration.

He also seemed in the best of spirits. He said the trip through the western and northern part of the state had done him "a world of good" and he never had "felt better."

"What were you doing in Mineral Wells?" was a query.

"For one thing, I was meditating," he said, smiling. Then he said he had "decided the dogwoods are blooming."

Several weeks ago in Washington the governor remarked he would announce his political intentions "when the dogwoods bloom."

"I probably will make an announcement, one way or the other, about the latter part of this week," he added.

The governor took a crack at statements of some announced candidates for gubernatorial honors, asserting "they seem to have endorsed my recommendations to the legislature."

He said a declaration of Ernest O. Thompson, one candidate, that the "balance should be gudgeted" as well as the "budget should be balanced" had a "familiar ring."

He "seemed to recall" one of his own speeches in 1934, he said.

Rumors about the governor's plans have included virtually every possibility, but he himself has said he would disclose them to none, not even to his closest friends, until the formal public statement was ready.

It has been reported he would not run for a third term, but would resign to accept a federal government position, possibly a federal judgeship. Stories that he would serve out his present term and then practice law in Austin long have been current.

Many politicians, anxious to make their plans and line up his past adherents for this year's campaign, have continuously attempted to "smoke" him out. But the governor has remained tight-lipped.

On his decision to run or not to run will swing the strategy of the whole gubernatorial campaign. It is the biggest unanswered political question in Texas today.

Opinion is Divided.

AUSTIN, March 14.—(AP)—Press correspondents who heard Governor Allred's announcement he had reached a decision whether to seek re-election were sharply divided in opinion today over what he would do.

Of nine correspondents who attended the press conference five were of the opinion he would not run again and four said they believed he would.

White's Chapel

A light cheerful atmosphere in a kitchen is dependent on the finish and condition of walls, floors and woodwork Miss Clara Rettiger told a group of 24 club women at the home of Mrs. Frank Marrill Wednesday. Miss Rettinger continued her talk by picturing the different kinds of kitchen color schemes that could be carried out. She says if you have a sunny kitchen it is best to use cooler colors such as greens, blues, etc, but if kitchen is dark you need to use light colors, since most of your kitchens are already built you will need to study storage space and add it wherever possible, and do so before you plan the finish for walls. Make your kitchen as livable and workable as possible. It needs soft light colors to make it restful. If you use paper for the walls be sure to get a washable paper, the few cents per roll in cost does not mean much when you consider the benefit from it. To refinish floors a good way to smooth rought places is to tack sandpaper on a block and scrape old floors. Then when that is done use a crack filler for open spaces. After that is thoroughly dry sandpaper again. Then clear off dust and use two or three coats of hard clear floor varnish. When that is dried use wax, either paste or liquid over the varnish to protect it. If the floor is in too bad a condition to varnish use good deck paint, two or three coats and it will make a more livable place. Most people prefer linoleum and it is advisable to get the best you can affod and to protect it, give it a coat of varnish every six or eight months, then keep it waxed between times. Since homemakers have to spend so much time in the kitchen it should be made both restful and workable.

BRITAIN

Germany had replied sharply to "grave" British protests over Reichsfuehrer Hitler's absorption of Austria.

The reply had come from Baron Konstantin von Neurath, head of Germany's new secret council. His letter said "the British government is not within its right in claiming the role of protector of Austria."

Chamberlain commented:

"His majesty's government are and must always be interested in developments in Central Europe."

Chamberlain said "the defense program will be reviewed in the light of the new circumstances" -- a virtual announcement that the nation's $7,500,000,000 rearmament drive would be expanded even further.

Effects Yet Unmeasured.

"These events cannot be regarded by his majesty's government with indifference," the prime minister said, referring to Hitler's swift, bloodless coup in Austria.

"They are bound to have effects which cannot yet be measured.

"We have always made it clear that our defense programs were flexible and that they would be reviewed at any time in the light of any development in the international situation.

"It would be idle to pretend that recent events do not constitute a change of the kind we had in mind.

"We must consider the new situation quickly, but with full judgment x x x.

"It is untrue to suggest that we ever gave Germany our assent or encouragement to enforce the absorption of Austria into the German reich.

"The hard fact is that nothing could have arrested the action by Germany unless we and others with us had been prepared to use force to prevent it.

To Make Fresh Reviews.

"Accordingly we have decided to make fresh reviews and in due course we shall announce what further steps we may think it necessary to take."

Chamberlain concluded amid cheers.

Great Britain seemed on the verge of joining with France and Czechoslovakia in a specific agreement to protect the independence of small, endangered nations—particularly Czechoslovakia.

While Great Britain evidently was resigned to Reichsfuehrer Hitler's armed absorption of Austria, there were definite evidences she has determined to take a much stronger stand hereafter to prevent the eastward surge of nazi power.

Three definite steps were bing taken by Great Britain to fortify her position:

1. Building up of England's military and naval strength to a point where Germany will heed—instead of imperiously ignore—British diplomacy.

Seek Mussolini Understanding.

2. Seeking of an understanding with Premier Mussolini in order to hold the Italian end of the Rome-Berlin axis in line.

3. Consolidation of British, French and Czechoslovakian opposition to nazi ambitions.

The defense of Great Britain remained the prime consideration before cabinet ministers as they debated whether to join France in protecting Czechoslovakia. France already has a pact with the little war-born nation.

Diplomatic observers believe Great Britain has completely abandoned hope of inducing Germany to stack arms and seek her objectives through negotiation. This is regarded as the main reason England is hastening to remove all vestiges of misunderstanding which could cause friction with Italy.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain approached the house of commons with an explanation of his foreign policy, reformed in the light of Hitler's accomplishments thinly-concealed aims for the future.

France Prepares to Fight Reich Spread

PARIS, March 4.—(AP)—France prepared herself today to fight against further expansion of the German reich.

Faced by the Austrian crisis, Socialist Leon Blum hastily formed a new Peoples' Front government to replace te fallen Camille Chautemps and prepared for action through diplomacy, propaganda, and if necessary, with force.

Accepting German absorption of Austria as past and done with, the new government mapped these steps to check any new encroachment in Central Europe by Fuenrer Hitler:

1. An understanding was sought with Britain, said an informant closely connected with the government. That the two democracies "tolerate no more violations of European order."

2. The mutual assistance treaty with Czechslovakia would be revised to provide military action against Germany, even should Hitler attempt peaceful Nazification of the war-born republic, with its 3,500,000 Germans. Czechslovakia is thought here to be Hitler's next goal.

3. Then France would seek to extend her mutual assistance understanding with Czechslovakia and with Russia to include all Central Europe, Poland, Rumania and Yugoslavia.

4. There would be an eventual effort to break the Berlin-Rome axis, bringing Premier Mussolini of Italy into the Franco-British front—if the present Italian-British friendship talks were successful.

5. French troops will be kept ready. Reinforcements yesterday moved into the formidable concrete and steel Maginot line which stretches virtually from Switzerland to Belgium along the German frontier.

kidnap-murder of a 14-year-old boy.

He once termed the murder "the most foolish, most motiveless act ever conceived in a diseased brain."

Darrow said he stepped into the case "to do what I could for sanity and humanity, against the wave of hatred and malice that, as ever, was masquerading under its usual now de plume, 'justice'."

Darrow was credited with saving the youthful pair from death. They were sentenced to life on one charge, plus 99 years on a second, with a recommendation that neither be paroled.

Two years ago when Loeb was slain in the penitentiary by a fellow-convict, Darrow said:

"Loeb is better off than Leopold who must live. They wanted to live and I was engaged to represent them in court and it was my duty to help them live. I had no right to trifle with their lives."

Father Village Infidel.

Darrow was born in Kinsman, Ohio, April 18, 1857. His father, Amurus Darrow, was a cabinetmaker and undertaker.

"My father was the village infidel," Darrow once wrote, "and gradually came to glory in his reputation."

During his teaching days, Darrow began the study of law. He lived across the street from a tin shop, and the tinner was a justice of the peace. "And I never missed a chance to go over to his shop when a case was on trial," Darrow said in recounting his early days as a lawyer

He studied law at the University of Michigan for one year, and then decided "I could make my preparation in another year in an office, which would cost much less money and give me a chance to be admitted to the bar at 21. So I went to work in a law office."

Chicago first saw Darrow in 1887. From a soap box orator, he became a political spellbinder, and served two terms as assistant corporation counsel of Chicago, and one term in the Illinois house of representatives.

Homely Philosophies Of Darrow Famous

CHICAGO, March 14.—(AP)—Clarence Darrow, courtroom duelist for more than half a century, was famous for his homely philosophies, among them:

"Every criminal trial is a manhunt, where the object of the pack is to get the prey."

"All courtroom proceeding seem more like a prize-ring combat than a calm dignified effort to find the truth."

"Most judges have neither the experience nor the imagination to comprehend life."

"Christmas is a source of profound sorrow for fathers and mothers who cannot afford to fill up their children's stockings with gifts: all told, Christmas is mainly a public nuisance. People would be better off if they paid no attention to it."

"No one can find any facts to prove that capital punishment has any effect toward preventing killing * * *. Capital punishment to me seems a cruel, brutal, useless barbarism. Killing of one individual by another always shows real or fancied excuse of reason."

VIEWS ON BUSINESS CONDITIONS COUNTY AND CITY PRESENTED

EMPLOYERS AND SALESPEOPLE FORUM LARGELY ATTENDED THURSDAY NIGHT

By CHARLTON GUNTER

Views on business conditions in Corsicana and Navarro county for the immediate and more distant future, and contributions which both the store head and employee could make to improve the flow of commerce were presented at the first "Employer and Salespeoples Forum" at the Corsicana Junior High School auditorium Thursday night.

The meeting was sponsored by the Retail Merchants committee of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce as an experiment to determine whether or not it would meet a definite need. At the conclusion of the meeting an estimated eighty per cent of those present voted for the continuance of such sessions at regular intervals, perhaps quarterly.

The Tiger Teasers, swing section of the Corsicana High School Band, under the direction of Earl Ralston presented the entertainment features of the evening with a short program including the school songs of the University of Texas, Rice Institute and Southern Methodist University, "China-Boy," "Milenburg Joys," "Some of These Days," and "Peruna.' The boys drew a well-deserved hand for their efforts.

W. H. Smith Presided

W. H. (Bill) Smith presided at the meeting in the absence of Sydney Marks, scheduled chairman who was unable to be present because of illness. He declared the purpose of the meeting was to present a picture of actual trade conditions for the benefit of employers and employees.

He asserted the employees of every store filled a vitally important role in the success of any business since they represented the principal contact between the store and the customer; he added the employee made the first contact and it must be right. He complimented Corsicana stores on the high type of their personnel and declared that was not place for shirkers, "Reds," "Communists or "I W. W.'s" in Corsicana business.

R. W. Knight, Chamber of Commerce executive, was the first speaker with an assigned subject of "The Business Outlook for Corsicana and Navarro County." He stated in his introduction the meeting was an experiment in an effort to find some method of improving business morale.

He asserted that Corsicana was not measuring up fully to its possibilities as a trading center, and suggested some study was necessary to determine who was responsible for the condition. He pointed out the merchandising structure of any community was the economic basis which determined the difference in value between a piece of city proprty and farm lands.

Continuing, the speaker pointed out that there was no boom of business in Corsicana but neither was there a recession. He announced that within the next few weeks approximately $300,000 would be coming into the county in the form of conservation practice benefit payments, and later in the year an estimated $700,000 in parity payments would be forthcoming both of which were definite business assets and opportunities.

Improved Conditions

Taking up the proposed trimming of cotton acreage, the speak declared that it would be an asset since intensive cultivation would be encouraged, more land would be available for other uses, and lower crop production costs would result. He also reported 78 merchants had visited the "modernization show" which stopped in Corsicana recently and admitted interest in improving the appearance of their establishments. He also quoted statistics on specific and general conditions to show that even in the industrial sections of the north and east conditions were rapidly showing improvement.

Mr. Knight closed with the statement that business success depended more on the efforts of employer and employee and their attitudes than on any outside condition.

F. H. Harvey, Jr., was the second speaker with the subject of "Reselling Corsicana and Navarro County to its own business men and salespeople." The speaker said he thought the subject was "silly" because he could not conceive of any citizen remaining in the area unless he was sold on its qualities. He said any salesman had to be "sold' on his product before he could sell others and the truth applied to citizens as well as any other line.

He declared that he had been in the city only six months but had made it a duty to inform himself on the advantages and history of the city. He then briefly sketched the history of Corsicana and some of its claims to fame, pointed out the city in addition enjoyed annual bank clearing of more than ninety million dollars, and over six million dollar wholesale business.

He declared the fact that Corsicana had and supported 20 churches was a great recommendation for its quality, along with its modern school system. He also pointed out that while many other communities had units of the same service or luncheon clubs which existed in Corsicana, those of this city had a wide reputation for their accomplishments.

Praises Local Papers

Mr. Harvey also declared that Corsicana and the county had another great asset in the Corsicana Daily Sun and the Semi-Weekly Morning Light whose quality was known and recognized not only in the state and southwest but also in other parts of the nation.

"Whenever I meet newcomers to Corsicana, I'm glad to tell them these fine things about my home community. I'm thoroughly 'sold' on Corsicana."

The third speaker of the evening was Jay A. Silverberg with a subject of "What Are the Essentials of a Successful Modern Retail Establishment.' In his introduction, the speaker declared that he, too, was sold on Corsicana and had found that it had more advantages and opportunities than could be found in most places either larger or smaller.

Mr. Silverberg said an exhaustive discussion of his subject would require an entire evening and he would confine himself to the six main points which included management, employer-employee relationships, employee-customer relationships, modernization, store arrangement, and advertising.

Under the head of management, the speaker said many store heads were content to confine their activities to the narrow limits of buying, selling and financing while much more was required. He declared that the greatest portion of failure in business came in the first ten years of the life of an enterprise, and mostly attributed to inefficient operations. He stressed necessity of vision on the part of the management if the store was to be successful.

Taking up the employer- employee relationship, the speaker said that failure was sure unless there was at all times co-operation and cordiality in the relations between the managers and the salespeople.

In the field of employee-customer relationships, the speaker stated the salespeople were actually the reception committees for the store and their first impression must be effective or the customer would be lost. He insisted the salesman had only service to sell the customer, and if he sold service then the service would easily sell the merchandise.

Ten Qualifications.

He listed ten qualifications of a good salesman and touched briefly on each including dependability, good appearance, courteous manner, industry, loyalty, mental alertness, initiative, cooperation, knowledge of products, and knowledge of the store and its policies.

Under the head of modernization, the speaker declared that many Corsicana firms were conducting apparently successful businesses behind store fronts that represented the styles of fifteen and twenty years ago, and again emphasized the fact that an attractive place of business was an essential factor in getting potential customers inside to trade.

Taking up store arrangement, the speaker again urged modernization, asserting the majority of merchants used shelving and display cases while the use of counters where the customer could see and feel for himself the merchandise offered would result in an immediate increase in sales.

Mr. Silverberg declared his sixth factor, advertising, as one of the most essential in the entire list. He declared that Corsicana was fortunate in having two newspapers that carried far more items than any other newspaper of its size in the state or regional and whose reputation was recognized throughout the country. He declared that every merchant should patronize the papers in every way possible, pointing out that it was a recognized fact that there were greater returns in all lines from each dollar spent in newspaper advertising than from any other media.

He said there were other forms of advertising, and named circulars for specific purposes, radio, and others. He insisted, however, that the merchant of vision would co-crdinate all of his efforts and look to the future for his success.

Mrs. L. S. Cooper was presented on the subject of "What the Traveling Salesman and Retail Salespeople Can Do to Help Business" and began with a plea for a sympathetic reception of the travelling salesman. She pointed out that these persons made at least twenty calls a day, and if given an opportunity they would give the store owner benefit of some idea that had proven successful in another store in the same line and could be used here; she also pointed out the salesmen were trained to sell ideas as well as merchandise and could be helpful to any store operator, since they were usually clearing houses of ideas and information.

Urges Courtesy.

Taking up the retail salespeople, Mrs Cooper pointed out that drugstores, cafes, and service stations had the greatest amount of contacts with travellers. She urged above all courtesy and patience with all travellers, pointing out that questions that might seem silly to the clerk might be of great interest or importance to the visitor, and if they could not get the proper information it might result in the wrong impression of the town and of the store. She urged that the clerks be generally informed sufficiently to answer the questions put to them by out-of-town and out-of-state visitors.

Chairman Smith declared that the traveling men were assets to any community and urged that every effort be made to make Corsicana an even greater center for such residents, pointing out many advantages that might be found here that could be used as inducements.

J. M. Dyer, president of the organization, was the concluding speaker on the subject, "What the Chamber of Commerce expects to do that will directly or indirectly help business." He pointed out that much of the work was done through committees and that groups had been named to study and carry on worthwhile activities in almost every line that immediately or eventually bring additional business to Corsicana. He called attention to the recent financing of a permanent fair with its opening set during the fall months.

Open Forum Conducted.

An open forum session followed, with representatives of the sales forces of Corsicana stores participating. In response to a question as to what was being done about vocational guidance in the Corsicana schools, Superintendent W. H. Norwood expressed his appreciation for the cooperation given by local business men to high school students, pointing out that most of the boys and girls given trials had made good.

Russell A. Purifoy took the floor against "whispering campaigns" made up principally of glum faces and undercurrent talk about "depressions," "recessions," "business is bad" and other similar items. He urged that Corsicana merchants and business people take an optimistic attitude and battle for better business rather than fall victim of pessimism.

Jack Megarity also spoke briefly on the efforts of the service stations to meet the needs of the travelling public and supply them with the information needed or desired.

At the conclusion of the meeting a large majority of those present voted in favor of continuing the forums for the advantage of the individuals and the community.

The Retail Merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce is composed of Fesus A. Pierce, chairman; W. H. Smith, vice-chairman; S. J. Miles, Sydney Marks, Joe Wolens, Ed Wendorf, M. A. Tekell, W. M. Kay, and J. M. McGee. The Thursday meeting was arranged by a sub-committee composed of Messrs Miles, Smith and Pierce.

REP. L. A. JOHNSON AIDING IN EFFORTS LOCATE LABORATORY

COTTON RESEARCH PLANT SOUGHT BY TEXAS CONGRESSIONAL DELEGATION

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(AP)—Texas congressional delegation, through a committee comprised of Chairman Jones of the house agriculture committee, Majority Leader Rayburn, and Rep. Luther Johnson, submitted to Secretary Wallace five reasons why they believe their state should be chosen as the site of the cotton research laboratory providd under the new farm act.

The reasons were:

(1) Cotton is now grown all the way from California to the Atlantic coast. Texas is located in almost the exact center of the cotton area.

(2) Texas produces nearly one-third of all the cotton produced in America.

(3) Cotton in the western area is produced under different conditions as to climate and soil than in the eastern area. Texas is so located that it meets both conditions. The eastern half of the state is typical of eastern cotton production, and the western part of the state is typica. of the western production of cotton. In fact Texas produces all types and is typical of the entire area.

(4) Texas is located on the east-west axis and produces cotton under practically all conditions, and thus the institution could best serve all cotton producers.

(5) The state of Texas exports nearly ninety per cent of its cotton. The trend of cotton production in recent years has been toward the west.

As a practical proposition, the western area is less interested in an adjustment program than the eastern area. Ther is, therefore, more disposition to criticise an adjustment program. Much of this criticism and dissatisfaction would be eliminated if the research institution were located in area which is most interested in the export phase of the program.

An enthusiastic meeting of the United Charities board of directors was held Thursday morning in the organization's office, and the January and February reports of Miss Augusta Helm, secretary, were read.

Thirty of the same families helped in January were given assistance in February. Assistance given included groceries, cooking utensils, milk, clothing, a bushel of grapefruit, medicine, wood, stoves a bed, a chair and books and magazines.

The organization co-operated with 11 other organizations and much time was spent in investigation and follow-up work with transients. Miss Helm said the transient work was unfavorable. Causes outlined for the United Charities work was illness, unemployment, insufficient income, broken homes, penal cases, burned homes, deaths and feeblemindedness.

Miss Helm discussed the new technique of social service, as developed during the past five years. THE MOST AMAZING QUARTER-CENTURY IN TEXAS HISTORY

DURING the past quarter-century Texas has witnessed an amazing development of her vast resources and opportunities. Population has almost doubled. The volume of agricultural products has increased substantially. Mineral and oil products have increased in annual value from about $25,000,000 in 1912 to almost $600,000,000 in 1937. New wealth, added by manufacturing processes, has called for new payrolls, and has helped materially to bring the annual spendable income of Texans to the impressive total of more than two and three-quarter billions of dollars.

A Vital Stimulant to Progress

Dependable electric power service has been a vital stimulant to balanced development. In 1912, the Texas Power & Light Company was organized; and, in 1913, it built and put into operation the first high tension power transmission line in Texas. Thus began the pioneering of a service which has expanded to meet the needs of a greater Texas. Had it not been for the consistent expansion of this service during the past quarter-century, vast sources of new wealth might still be lying dormant as they had lain prior to the coming of this dependable, low-cost power service—abundant for all purposes.

To Those Who Had No Service

During this dynamic quarter-century the Texas Power & Light Company extended its service to 512 Texas communities of which 380 had not previously had electric service. Today, more than 40,000 rural and farm homes are served by this Company. Of the 512 communities, 478 have population of less than 2,500. Yet, Texas Power & Light Company brings to the people of this area a service which is not excelled even in the most densely populated areas of the nation, at an average cost to its customers lower than in many large eastern cities.

A Vigorous Community Asset

Texas Power & Light Company service is, however, more . . . far more . . . than the mere delivery of electric energy. It brings many vigorous aids to help round out the whole program of Better Living in the communities in which it operates. Its engineers and technical men advise and work with commercial and industrial establishments, helping them gain full advantage of their opportunities. It renders engineering service, planning service, technical service, specialized advisory service with respect to all uses of electricity in the home, in business, in industry, on the farm, and to the municipality.

Providing Cheaper Electricity

Today, the customers of Texas Power & Light Company enjoy a service which is not excelled anywhere . . . in any community, regardless of size or location. Lighting, cooking, refrigeration, sewing, cleaning, laundering, and many, many other services relieve drudgery and bring health, comfort, and convenience to the home. Yet, the cost of all these services is one of the smallest items in the family budget. In every other use, too, this service brings a value which greatly overshadows its cost. During the past ten years the cost of Texas Power & Light Service has gone down, and only down, despite the rapidly changing and frequently rising costs of other items in the budget.

Truly, An Amazing Period

Yes, the past quarter-century has been an amazing one in the history of Texas. It is only an indication of the vast developments which lie immediately ahead. Tomorrow is filled with opportunities . . Texas Opportunities . . . opportunities for great industrial achievements . . . for commercial and agricultural progress only hinted at in the past. The Texas Power & Light Company rededicates its intensely localized services to those communities in which it puts its shoulder to the wheel, with other citizens, to shape and build Better Living for all.

DRAMATIZED TREASON

Another of those strange Russian trials comes along. There are nearly two dozen more defendants, many of them famous, nearly all former Soviet officials in important places. They are charged with treason.

Much of the treasonable conduct consists in alleged plotting to assassinate other public officials, including Stalin and even Lenin, whose place Stalin took many years ago. The death of the famous author, Maxim Gorky, is involved. Some of the prisoners are accused of conspiring with Leon Trotsky, who is living in exile in Mexico. Most of them, if not all, are expected to face firing squads after a dramatic trial conducted largely for propagandist purposes.

A sigh goes up from the outer world. Thousands feel like asking Stalin, as Nancy Astor asked him in an interview several years ago, "How long are you going to keep on killing people?" He would probably answer now as he did then: "As long as it is necessary." But few of us would have his notion of "necessity."

It is a great pity that so many hundred of Russia's ablest men should be wiped out in this way, at a time when Russia more than ever needs her best brains. Will Russia ever gain the tolerance of our western democracies? Or is there no way to govern that strange medley of races except the way of the old czars?

JURORS SPEAK UP

A number of women who have served on New York juries in the six months since their eligibility was granted got together an at "experience luncheon" the other day and told members of the League of Women Voters about it. They urged several improvements in the jury system and set forth an interesting list of don'ts" for future women jurors.

They recommended rules for the jury room to end "the noise and lack of order." They thought "minor damage suits" ought to be handled in some less expensive way than by trial before a $26-a-day jury. They saw many places where justice might be more swiftly and fairly attained, and money and time saved. Court procedure, they said, should recognize modern means of communication and end the practice of making people sit through hours and hours of calendar-calling. To prospective women jurors they gave this advice:

"Don't be hurt if you are challenged. Don't take such things personally. Don't arrive at verdicts by chance, such as flipping a coin (as men jurors have been known to do). Don't give in to other jurors' wishes if you have a rational argument for your own viewpoint. Listen to testimony and decide on the basis of evidence and not on the charm of one attorney over the charm of another attorney."

Perhaps all this advice is outside the duties of jurors and ex-jurors, but it shows a lively interest in an important public service. Such an attitude on the part of citizens should be welcome and useful.

AMERICAN FAMILIES

Statistics and averages are useful, but they must be taken with more than a grain of common sense and understanding. Take certain averages now used by relief authorities in making necessary estimates. They say the standard family today consists of 3.9 persons. The number of home relief clients is multiplied by that number to get the total number of beneficiaries.

In 1930 the average was 4.1; in 1920 it was 4.3; in 1910 it was 4.5. That is, in 1910 there were 450 persons in a group of 100 families, while today there are only 390.

When you get down to counting noses, however, instead of averages, you learn that, in 1930, there were more than 20,000,000 families below the average, having four members or less, about a tenth of them being one-person families. In that same year there were 3,500,000 families of seven persons or more.

Each set of figures is important, but both are necessary to get at a real picture of the population and its individual families.

TROUBLE IN TOKYO

Oriental Fascism is not doing so well, either. The Japanese nation was against the autocrat group running the government before the war in China began. For a while the public rallied patriotically to support the war; but as the campaign drags, and new levies of men and money are needed, and the dead and wounded come back in a steady stream, government support wanes again.

There have been dangerous disturbances lately in Tokyo and even in the halls of parliament. Instead of the greater power demanded by the militarists, the parliament wants to give them less. The critics complain that a "mobolization act" submitted for approval is "a bureaucratic invention devised by officials in contact with the army, who are creating the framework of a dictatorial system." It would lead, they say, to "complete regimentation."

Takao Saito, brilliant leader of the majority party, recently denounced the measure amid the cheers of his supporters. Business interests, too, formerly approving of the conduct of war, are said to be swinging to his side.

Time is fighting for China, and perhaps also for the best interest of Japan. If China can keep on fighting a few months more, she may win a tolerable peace and democracy may win in Japan.

THE EDITOR'S JOB

The death of Robert P. Scripps, head of the Scripps-Howard chain of papers, recalls the opinion of a great newspaper man as to the mission of the modern newspaper and the function of the editor. He said:

"The first responsibility of the newspaper is to tell its readers, without fear, favor or prejudice, everything of interest that is going on in the world, the nation and the community.

"But the second function and responsibility of the newspaper editor is no less clearly defined. This is his editorial page job—the job of counsel and advice, which is not improperly thrust upon him by readers who have placed him secure in his free and independent editorial chair.

"He has the advantage of the general run of men who work the circumscribed fields. His whole life is lived at the fountainhead of the most diversified of facts. His information is necessarily greater than the average. His intelligence is presumably at least fair. Even if his intelligence were less than fair, given his closer contacts with factual developments, he should—and it is naturally demanded that he do—take definite positions on public questions.

"As I see it, the peculiarly professional part of the newspaperman's job is over when he has ascertained, selected and printed the news. Having done this, when he sits down to write editorials about it, his duty becomes simply that of a good citizen. It is his special duty just because he has had special access to facts, the ascertainment and guaging of the importance of which is his whole business."

Here is a clear and noble statement of the editor's privilege and responsibility. It presents an ideal which most newspaper editors, we believe, sincerely try to live up to.

WHAT IS AGE?

"If a man past 50 is killed," writes a reader, "the papers report it with a headline that probably says, 'Aged Man Killed by Auto.' I am past 50, and I do not consider myself an aged man. At what age does a person cross the line separating middle from old age?

A newspaper writer replies: "For any person who has passed his 50th birthday, old age will not begin until after his 60th. When he reaches 60, it is put off again."

This tendency strengthens nowadays, compared with the traditional attitude toward age. Men and women past 50 used to acknowledge they were old. Shakespeare wrote of himself as old when he was in his early forties. Why the changed attitude now?

Partly it is because people, on the average, live much longer than they used to and retain their health, as a result of more hygienic living and better medical service. Partly, perhaps, it comes from discarding beards and long hair, which made men and women old and venerable before their time.

Largely, though, we may feel younger, and act younger, and look younger, because we have adopted a Cult of Youth. We might almost call it a religion.

Maybe this country needs the famous motto of the Boston Globe: "I am an old man and have had many troubles, but most of them never happened.

A science writer says landslides cost this country too much money. So they do; and shame to anybody who takes the statement politically.

A ray of light in the general gloom; ball teams are heading south.

IT'S IN THE DOING.

Time was in the long ago
Holidays I yearned to know.
"Give me more and more," I cried,
"Hours with pleasure to abide.
Freedom! Freedom! now I ask
From this everlasting task."

Dutybound, I ached to shirk
Life's insistent call to work;
Dreamed of happier days to be Done with grim Necessity.
When I might from strife retire,
Free to serve my own desire.

Now those days have come and I
Watch the workers hurrying by;
Watch and wish I had the strength
Still to run a full day's length;
Still could hold my place out there
With a burden I could hear.

CONTRACTORS MEET WITH SPECIAL REA REPRESENTATIVE

Wiring contractors and appliance dealers together with directors of the Navarro County Electric C-Operative Incorporated were given details of approved financing plans in connection with the scheduled and proposed rural electrification projects in this territory at a meeting held in the city hall Friday afternoon, P. W. Smith, special representative of the Rural Electrification Administration at Washington, was the speaker at the meeting.

In an interview Friday morning, Mr. Smith pointed out that every assistance was being given the rural resident who desired electricity and at the same time every precaution was taken to prevent his wasting his resources. All wiring must conform to the standards of the national code and will be inspected before receiving a connection with the various circuits.

Mr. Smith stated that the finance plans available made it possible for the new user of electricity to secure a complete wiring job at the beginning, rather than have only the barest number of outlets possible at the beginning and then have to expand the system from year to year at a considerably greater cost.

FULLWOOD AND MARR GET GOOD WELL IN NEW KMA SECTOR

Travis Fullwood and Donald Marr, independent oil operators, returned to Corsicana today from the Wichita Falls area, where they brought in a producer Thursday in the KMA field. They said the well made 125 barrels the first hour, at 3,880 feet in 63 feet of saturated sand. They had a photograph of the oil going over the derrick as it came in.

The Fullwood and Marr well was located on the Pace lease, and they reported they are drilling an offset well, which is now at 3,200 feet, and expected to come in in about 10 days. They own forty acres on the Pace and Waggoner leases, and expect to drill a total of four wells, all that are allowed on that amount of ground.

Grayson County Community Shows One-Variety Pays

SHERMAN, March 11.—(AP)—Tom Bean, Grayson county community, has demonstrated that a one-variety cotton community is a paying proposition.

It was estimated that farmers of the community last season received $7,000 in premiums over the price paid in surrounding towns. Around 3,500 bales were ginned.

The Tom Bean community has been gradually progressing toward one variety of cotton for several years and now about 90 per cent of the farmers are cooperating. P. H. Luby, manager of the Tom Bean gin, said buyers always are willing to pay from 20 to 40 points above the spot market price for Tom Bean cotton.

TEXAS TO RETAIN ITS SIXTEEN CCC CAMPS FOR TIME

BROWNWOOD, March 11.—(AP)—Texas will retain its sixteen CCC camps in state and municipal parks for the present, announces Wendell Mayes of Brownwood, chairman of the Texas State Parks Board. Mayes and William J. Lawson of Austin, executive secretary of the board, returned recently from Washington where they conferred with national park service officials.

No movement of camps will be made April 1 as had been contemplated, but Texas may lose one camp July 1, Mayes said. Camps in the United States are to be reduced from 1,500 to 1,200 April 1.

Texas is making greater progress in development of state parks than possibly any other state and the areas being developed are of such importance the state parks board feels that any reduction would create a handicap to the program in Texas, Mayes said.

This state lost three camps January 1 and the present nation-wide reduction will make it impossible to establish new camps in Texas until work in parks now occupied is completed, he added.

Texas has 13 camps in state parks and three in municipal parks. State parks which have camps are Brownwood, Garner at Uvalde, Bastrop, Dalmorhea, Cleburne, Mother Neff, Tyler, Huntsville, Lockhart, Lubbock, Daingerfield, Longhorn Cavern, and Fort Parker at Mexia. Camps in municipal parks are at Dallas, Beaumont, and Goliad.

COLORFUL AND BRILLIANT CORONATION CLIMAX SOCIAL CALENDAR

MISS MARTHA MARTIN CROWNED QUEEN HIGH SCHOOL FRIDAY NIGHT

CAPACITY AUDIENCE PRESENT TO SEE PICTURESQUE PAGEANT OF ROYALTY

By JOHN SAM HASLAM

Miss Martha Martin, pretty and popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Martin, was crowned queen of the Corsicana high school by Aubrey Poarch, son of Mrs. S. D. Miller, king, at the annual coronation ceremony of the Court of the Southland in the school auditorium Friday evening. The annual coronation program is the climax of the school's social calendar.

Before the curtains were drawn for the presentation of the court, the capacity audience was entertained with a top-notch program of ensemble and solo vocal and instrumental musical selections, an interlude of legerdemain, group and solo dance numbers and blackface comedy. After the court attendants had been presented and the crown had been placed on Miss Martin's head, the court musicians and dancer gave a brief program.

Brilliant Program Presented.

The first number on the program was two chorus presentations by the girls glee club of 37 voices, directed by Miss Margaret Lowry, music teacher. Their first number was "In the Still of the Night," by Cole Porter, with Miss Jewel Taylor as the accompanist, and the second, sung a capella was "My Curly-Headed Babby" by Clutsam.

Miss Marjorie Wolens was presented next in a colorful and gracefully done gypsy dance, with Mrs. Eugenia Story playing her accompaniment, and followed a group of sleight of hand tricks by John Hastings, who was assisted by John Davis.

The George sisters, Bobby Jo, Martha Sue and Jane, dressed in blue, pink and green floor-length dresses, gave a soft shoe tap, with Mrs. Natalie Kirkland playing their piano accompaniment. Misses Patsy and Marilyn Reece, wearing blue and yellow floor-length dresses, played Strauss' "Blue Danube Waltz" as an accordion duet, and were followed on the program by Ida Catherine Hodgden in a personality song and tap solo. Mrs. Jack Price was her accompanist, and her numbers were "I Double Dare You" followed by an encore, Wayne King's popular "Josephine."

Topics of the day were discussed by Lawrence (Sadie) Ransom in a surefire blackface skit. He regaled the audience with a series of hitherto unpublished incidents touching upon affairs of the school, its teachers, officials and administration, upon the coronation and Dad's club personalities.

The closing portion of the program was lilting rhythmic Mexican hat dance, given by Betty Jo Benton, Billy Bob Ransom, Alice Tatum, Jeanette Purifoy, June Fauber, Betty Jo Owen, Jimmie Ann Cox and Alyce Clyde Brophy, with Jewel Taylor as the accompanist.

Striking Stage Setting.

The drawn curtains revealed a stage striking in its Southern colonial simplicity. The new tan curtain formed the background and side drops, before which in the center stage were two typically colonial fanback chairs, placed on a white dais, which formed the throne. Parallel to the side drop curtains on either side were white platforms of three levels, upon which were standing the two ladies-in-waiting of each of the three classes. Before them ranging to the proscenium were two low white-covered platforms, upon which the young men of the court took their places, and in front of which stood the young ladies of the court.

Just behind and on either side of the throne dais were two floor candelabra, holding seven blue wax tapers, which were lighted. In the two back corners of the stage were large potted palms, completing the stage setting. The effectiveness of the scene was enhanced by the use of the floodlights, the overhead light bridges and the colored floodlights, which suffused the entire scene in a soft aura of light.

As the curtain was drawn, the court heralds, Kay Tatum and Jack Almond took their places on either side of the stage, from which Almond heralded the approach of the court attendants, with the trumpet, who were announced by Tatum. He first introduced the six ladies in waiting, and then Aubrey Poarch, who, after presentation to the audience, took his place on the throne dais.

The court attendants filed down the aisles as the orchestra, directed by Miss Lowry, played the processional, were presented and after bowing to the king, took their places on the stage.

Colorful Costumes.

Following are the court attendants, their escorts and descriptions of their dresses, in the order of their appearance:

Typical of colonial days and as a decorative feature for the setting of the Court of the Southland, six ladies-in-waiting took their places in the background on pedestals in ascending heights. These were Misses Christine Jackson and Dorothy Burkhart of the senior class; Misses Diana Roberts and Cloie Farmer of the junior class and Misses Sue Frances Gordon and Aloise Foster of the sophomore class.

Their organdie dresses, in three shades of pink, were made alike in Southern colonial style with beruffled, bouffant skirts and drop shoulder bodices, covered with ruffles. All wore pink flowers in their hair, and gold slippers. Each carried a colonial bouquet of sweet peas, and a shepherd's crook.

Misses Jackson and Burkhart wore coral pink, Misses Roberts and Farmer rose pink and Misses Foster and Gordon deep rose.

First to enter the auditorium for the court procession was Miss LaRue Jefferson, duchess of the sophomore class, and her escort, Josh Halbert, duke of the sophomore class. She was wearing a lovely net creation made with very full skirt, with panels of black, maroon, dark green and bright blue, and tight-fitting girdle about the waist. Her sandals were silver kid, and in her hair she wore a small cluster of daisies. Her flowers were Talisman and Souvenir roses with yellow and white daisies as a secondary flower. They were tied with silver ribbon.

Sophomore Duchesses.

Miss Natalee Scott, duchess of the sophomore class, chose a pink marquisette dress with ruffled lace bolero, which she wore with a necklace of small pearls, silver head dress and silver sandals. Her flowers were Token roses in an unusual shade of copper, combined with blue cornflowers and candytuft and tied with silver ribbon in loops. She was attended by Ralph Stell, duke of the sophomore class.

Miss Peggy Ann Levi, duchess of the sophomore class, was becomingly gowned in a white chiffon posed over white taffeta. It was made with high shirred waist line encircled with a sash of fuchsia chiffon and shirred, puffed sleeves. A band of shirred chiffon extended across the full skirt's hemline and her head dress was a band of brilliants bordered with pearls. She wore white satin sandals and her flowers were dark pink roses and deep blue cornflowers in cascade effect, with flowing loops of silver metal ribbon. Miss Levi's escort was Jack McDaniel, duke of the sophomore class.

Miss Patsy Ann Jeffers, duchess of the sophomore class, was dressed in a sweeping princess of cornflower blue marquisette over taffeta of the same shade. A short bolero of the same material gave a modern touch to the gown, which was worn with silver sandals and a small cluster of spring flowers in her hair. Her flowers, a combination of dark pink roses, blue cornflowers and yellow daisies, and tied with satin ribbons in rainbow hues, simulated a spring bouquet. She had as her escort Bill Lang, duke of the sophomore class.

Junior Class Duchess.

Next in line were the duchesses of the junior class and their escorts.

Miss Margaret Kerr, escorted by Claude Cunningham, duke of the junior class, chose a diaphanous gown of powder blue chiffon over satin, made with a very full accordion pleated skirt and low neck line in both the front and back. The fullness was caught at the neck front with a rhinestone clip and at the shoulders with small bows. She wore a sash of antique fuchsia tied in front, and shoes of the same shade as the sash. Pink rosebuds peeped from her curls at the back. Her flowers were dark pink rosebuds, bordered with blue cornflowers and candytuft, while loops of silver and fuschsia ribbons reached almost to the bottom of her skirt.

Miss Isa Baum, duchess of the junior class, with John Hastings, duke of the junior class as her escort, wore a white moire taffeta picture dress whose full skirt and fitted waist were bead-trimmed. With this lovely creation she wore red sandals and a white orchid in her hair. She carried a cascade of red roses and silver metal ribbon loops that swept the hem of her skirt.

Miss Mary Frances Schoeps, also a duchess of the junior class, with Homer Pace, Jr., as her escort, chose a white starched, striped lace. The lace, cut on the bias, made the semi-full skirt with hemline of wide white net. The V point waist line was made very soft and effective with white velvet lilies forming a belt effect around the waist. The bust-length bolero was of matching lace and net, with semi-wide revers. Her white satin slippers were silver stitched and decorated with a rhinestone buckle. A cluster of silver kid leaves and pearls was worn in her hair. Her flowers were red carnations, fashioned in cascade effect with loops of silver metal ribbon.

Colonial Costume.

As a duchess of the junior class, Miss Ruth Parker's dress carried one back in memory to the stately damsels of colonial days. Its form-fitted basque buttoned to the waist line with many small linen covered buttons, and the billowy skirt was of the sheerest imported organdy, valenciennes lace and dainty entredeau stripped together with the finest pintucked self-material, forming a tri-cornered square yoke outlined with the same handmade lace edging. Large puff sleeves also bore the same type of bands that the yoke was composed of. The bottom of the dress was scalloped and finished with the same lace as elsewhere. The simplicity of this costume was further enhanced by the unique old-fashioned petticoat, worn with the dress, which also had a tight-fitted top with a very full skirt and knee-length flounce composed of five rows of old-fashioned embroidery insertion put together with tucked material to match. Embroiderd beading joined this to the foundation with blue ribbon laced through the eyelets, then tied in a perky bow on the right-hand side. Simple, low-heel white kid sandals completed this costume, aside from a few blue cornflowers peeping demurely from her blond hair. The only ornament worn was a yellow gold locket and chain, a family heirloom. An old-fashioned bouquet of flowers of blending hues, loosely fashioned across the arm, was of Talisman rosebuds, blue cornflowers, yellow daisies, blue sweet peas and forget-me-nots, freesias and poeticas, with streamers in varigated shades of blue and Talisman ribbons, showering the front of her dress.

Senior Duchesses.

The senior duchesses with their chosen dukes, came next.

A lovely gown was worn by petite Miss Clarece Redden, duchess of the senior class. It was fashioned in Greecian style of aqua accordion pleated chiffon, with American Beauty velvet girdle. With this she wore a pearl bracelet and necklace and silver slippers. The American Beauty note was repeated in the rose arrangement in her hair and in the lovely cascade arrangement of American Beauty roses with a shower of silver ribbon. Miss Redden was escorted by L. C. Morgan, Jr., duke of the senior class.

A sunburst marquisette gown, shading from pale yellow to a deep flame tone, was selected by Miss Winkie Pierce. It was fashioned with a full skirt, full, short sleeves and tight bodice with low decollette effect in front, caught with rhinestone clips. She chose gold slippers to compliment her gown and her flowers were of gold and red Talisman roses, arranged with gold metal ribbon loops in cascade effect. A small wreath of tiny Talisman rosebuds was worn in her hair. Her escort was Neal Prince, duke of the senior class.

Miss Dorothy McCarter, duchess of the senior class, was becomingly gowned in a gold melon marquisette made with an extremely full skirt, huge but soft, puffed sleeves and square neckline. Two velvet bands of chartreuse and rose formed a belt and streamers of matching velvet fell from the waist to the hemline. The full skirt was bordered with wide, melon embroidered organdy. Her shoes were of gold brocade and she wore roses in her hair. Her flowers were American Beauty roses, tied with gold metal ribbon. She was attended by Edgar Wareing, Jr., duke of the senior class.

Miss Theda Pyburn.

Miss Theda Pyburn, duchess of the senior class, was dressed in a powder-blue shadow lace and chiffon combination with blouse of the lace made with a girdle and buttoned up the back with covered buttons. The full flowing skirt was of chiffon with panels of lace. A blue carnation was worn in her hair, and her sandals were of gold. Her flowers were salmon-pink Joanna Hill roses combined with candytuft, tied with gold and yellow ribbon. Her escort was Billy Stokes, Jr., duke of the senior class.

Preceding the queen were the three princesses and their escorts.

Miss Patty Collins, princess of the sophomore class, escorted by Bill Robeson, prince of the sophomore class, wore a lovely gown of old rose marquisette, which was posed over an old rose taffeta slip. It was designed on princess lines with a flare skirt and full puffed sleeves. Silver sandals were chosen to compliment her gown and blue forget-me-nots were arranged in her hair. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations outlined in blue delphinium, tied with blue satin ribbon.

Junior Class Princess.

Miss Robbie Love English, princess of the junior class, chose a swirl skirt trimmed with white silk organdy, trimmed with ruffles of bridal illusion. In her hair she wore a wreath of white carnations and her arm bouquet was a lovely arrangement of delicate pink rosebuds, tied with silver ribbon matching her silver slippers. She wore a corsage of pink carnations and lavender sweet peas and a white gold bracelet with matching ring and necklace. Her escort was Neal Bryant, prince of the junior class.

Miss Betty Burross, princess of the senior class, was becomingly gowned in an empire formal of royal blue chiffon, with three bright blending colors that accented the flattering decolletage and floated off in a four-length streamer. The blending colors were chartruese, cerise and Nile green. Gold sandals and cerise carnations for her dark hair completed this stunning outfit. Her flowers were cerise carnations fashioned in ultra-modern motif with long flowing loops of wide cerise satin ribbon.

Queen of Whole High School.

Miss Martha Martin, queen of the whole high school, was most stately as well as lovely in a white slipper satin gown, the skirt of which was fitted in front and the back having a flared effect. The high waistline was drawn up by a soft twist of satin which caught the point of the heart-shaped neckline in front with a soft bow.

The sleeves effected shirred fullness from shoulder to elbow, with the tight bridal sleeve from elbow to wrist. Lovely rhinestone bracelets and rhinestone shoulder clips that held the rich, black velvet and silver cloth train, were her only ornaments. The long train of black velvet trimmed in sequins and rhinestone bands, was bordered with wide bands of silver metal cloth. With this gorgeous outfit she wore silver sandals. Miss Martin carried a colonial shower bouquet of gardenias, encircled with rows of violets, pink carnations and sweet peas, showered with pink rosebuds and lilies of the valley. It was made on a pink net holder and tied with wide pink satin ribbon.

Bearing the train were four lovely little girls in colonial gowns of net and pastel shades, posed over taffeta slips and trimmed in velvet ribbon bows. All were made decollette and had very full beruffled skirts that swept the floor. The trainbearers were Connie Matthews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Matthews, Jr., who wore pink net trimmed in blue velvet bows; Jill Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Jones, who wore green net with apricot velvet bows; Mary Sue Shell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Shell, who wore yellow net with turquoise blue bows, and Judy Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Johnston, who wore light blue net with pink velvet bows. All wore harmonizing flower bandeaus in their hair.

Dickie Brown, five and a half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brown, as the crown bearer, wore black velvet knee pants and bolero, with a white satin blouse, white shoes and socks. He carried the beautiful rhinestone crown on a white satin pillow.

Queen Is Presented.

Miss Martin and her little attendants were presented after an elaborate fanfare. She stopped before the throne and Poarch placed the crown upon her head. When she and her attendants were seated on and around the throne, the court musicians and dancer entertained the court.

Betty Jane Milligan, accompanied by Edward F. Hearn, sang two solos, "Take Joy Home" by Karolyn Wells Bassett, a resident of San Antonio, and "Hayfields and Butterflies" by Teresa Del Riego. The court violinist, Miss Dorothy Hopkins, accompanied by Mrs. Jimmie Mansfield, played "From the Canebrake" by Gardner. Miss Jerry Robinson, court dancer, dressed in a striking blue costume, gave a graceful neo-classical dance, with Miss Jewel Taylor playing the accompaniment at the piano.

Committees in charge of the coronation were Mrs. Murphy Williams, Miss Annie Maud Shaw, Miss Hazel Hardage, Miss Margaret Lowry and L. P. Forsythe, high school teachers. Class sponsors include Miss Helen Bonner, Mrs. R. N. Elliott and Miss Emma Dorcas Morgan. Music was provided by members of the high school band, of which Joel C. Trimble is director.

At the conclusion of the coronation ceremony, some of the court members attended a dance at the Lyman Davis roof, and early Saturday morning were guests of Neal Prince and Kay Tatum at a breakfast at the Derrick.

Miss Martha Martin (above) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Martin, was chosen as queen of the Corsicana high school by popular vote of the student body, and Friday night was honored by members of the Court of the Southland in the high school's annual coronation program. She chose Aubrey Poarch, son of Mrs. S. D. Miller, as her king. Miss Martin was attended by eight duchesses and one princess and prince from each of the three classes. Before the coronation the audience, which packed the auditorium to capacity, was presented a program of entertainment numbers, and after the ceremonies additional entertainment was presented by the court musicians and dancers.

brand the same as a deliberate distortion of the truth and a perversion of the facts."

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP)—Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) predicted today the TVA may withdraw its offer to purchase private utility properties unless the power companies show more willingness "to play fair."

"The TVA will not keep its offer for the purchase of private properties open indefinitely," he declared.

Norris said that temporarily halting the public works program of aiding city power developments—a step suggested by a utilities spokesman—merely would give the private companies a stronger hand in bargaining for sale of their properties to TVA.

Asks Study Forest Problems.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress today to set up a joint committee to study the forest land problem with a view to taking "definite action" at the next session to check the "using up of our forest resources without replacement."

He said in a special message that, with some outstanding exceptions, most of the states, communities, and private companies had accomplished little toward forest conservation and added:

"This being so, it seems obviously necessary to fall back on the last defensive line—federal leadership and federal action."

The President used fiscal language in describing the exhaustion of timber resources, saying "we are still liquidating our forest capital; still cutting our accessible forests faster than they are being replaced. Our forest budget needs balancing."

Agrees to Senate TVA Probe.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP)—Senator Norris (Ind-Seb) agreed today to a sweeping senate investigation of the Tennessee Valley authority and sought immediate authorization of the inquiry.

His request that the senate take up immediately a resolution for the inquiry was blocked, however, by both democratic and republican objections.

Norris, abandoning his stand that the Federal Trade Commission should make the study, introduced a resolution providing for a senate investigation along both the lines he has wanted and those laid out by Senators King (D-Utah) and Bridges (R-NH), original sponsors of the senate inquiry resolution.

COMMISSIONERS

Hospital for the past month showed that institution did not owe any debts, the first time in a number of years this condition has been reported.

The court complimented the work of the Navarro county hospital board and Miss Edna Benson, superintendent, for the manner in which the institution has been operated the past year as well as the economical and efficient financial management of the affairs.

The court authorized the placing of a rail on the front steps of the courthouse to assist elderly persons walking up the steps. This is especially needed, it was pointed out, as the old age assistance offices are now located at the courthouse.

A letter was read from Hubert T. Faulk, county attorney of Wood county, asking that Navarro county join with the other 182 counties of Texas through which pipelines operate in an effort to have representation before the state tax board this spring when hearings on the intangible taxes questions are considered. The members of the court indicated they favored such a proceedure and planned to consider the question further.

CROP CONTROL

farmers' will. The farm program as respects cotton and these tobaccos will have the great advantage of overwhelming support of cotton and tobacco farmers."

The marketing goal has been set at about 11,000,000 bales of cotton, 705,000,000 pounds of flue-cured tobacco, and 145,000,000 pounds of dark air-cured and fire-cured tobacco.

Officials declared the quota system should prevent accumulation of larger surpluses of the affected crops and possibly should improve their prices.

Whether growers of corn and wheat will be asked to approve a marketing control program for their products has not been decided. A decision on corn will not be made until August, when a fairly accurate estimate of the 1938 crop will be available.

The farm law exempts wheat from quotas this year unless congress appropriates funds to pay subsidies in addition to the $500,000,000 of the soil conservation program. The only other commodity governed by the restrictive law is rice. It, too, is exempted this year.

HITLER

the fuehrer's immediate cavalcade, but just behind it a swift army on wheels was rumbling ponderously toward Vienna.

Until the fuehrer passed the motorized army units remained parked by the roadside. But as soon as he flashed by in a swirl of dust the tanks wobbled out into the highway again, and big motor lorries, motored field artillery, anti-aircraft and anti-tank guns and field kitchens resumed the rush toward what was once the proud imperial capital of the Hapsburgs.

At St. Poelten, 35 miles west of Vienna, where Hitler and his party halted for lunch at 2 p. m. (7 a.m., C.S.T.), the streets were jammed. A throng of nazis outside the hotel where the fuehrer was eating chanted, "We want to see our leader!" Until Hitler came out on a balcony and waved a response amid a storm of "Hail victory' and Hail Hitler" cries.

In northern Germany nothing to equal such nazi enthusiasm had been seen for several years.

ONLY IN JOBS AT GOOD PAY CAN NATIONAL STABILITY BE FOUND DECLARES PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, opening the nation's annual community chest campaign declared today that "only in jobs and more jobs, at good pay, shall we find National stability and individual security."

Addressing a meeting of the mobilization for human needs in the East room of the White House, the President appealed for a "united front" in making the 1938 private charity program a success.

He pointed out that direct relief, provided by the community chests, was aimed at "many problems of human misfortune—adjusting maladjusted families, taking care of the sick, tiding over crises in family life."

Work relief, a federal task to which he said he was definitely committed, is designed to provide jobs for "normal people who can give useful work to the country, and seeking adjustment of a maladjusted society rather than of maladjusted individuals."

"The importance of these employable millions may be more fully understood, perhaps," Mr. Roosevelt said, "when it is realized that approximately one-third of them are under 25 years of age and will be either assets or liabilities for many years to come, depending upon public policies toward them.

"If we do not give them a chance at something like normal living, it is inevitable that they will become millions of individual problems. For these able-bodied unemployed, I am definitely committed to the giving of jobs instead of relief."

The president said it was true that the "National economy does not today permit the federal government to give useful work to all the employable needy unemployed, but the federal government is doing so in the great majority of cases."

PRESIDENT TELLS TVA BOARD TO SUPPORT OBJECTIVES OF AGENCY OR QUIT POSITIONS

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, saying the public interest demanded an end to internal dissension, put two courses before TVA's embattled directors today: United support of the agency's objectives or resignation.

In outspoken language, he told them they should consider problems and policies impersonally and objectively and, once a majority decision was reached, act harmoniously.

"Any of you who cannot do that owe it to the public of the United States not to remain on the board," he said.

Although his words were directed to all three members of the Tennessee Valley Authority—some observers drew the inference, they were aimed particularly at the chairman.

Mr. Roosevelt had tried fruitlessly in a dramatic, six-hour session with the directors yesterday to bring out all the facts behind the charges and counter-charges hurled by the chairman and his fellow board members—fruitlessly, because Chairman Morgan flatly declined to support his charges.

The chairman, holding out for an "impartial, comprehensive and complete" congressional investigation, repeatedly told Mr. Roosevelt he was "an observer and not a participant in this alleged process of fact-finding."

He noted in a statement put into the record that he had "repeatedly but unsuccessfully" sought Mr. Roosevelt's co-operation in correcting "grave conditions" within TVA.

H. A. Morgan and Lilienthal offered various evidence in support of their complaint that the chairman had pursued an "obstructionist" course.

To give Chairman Morgan time to reconsider his position and present his side of the case, the president finally adjourned the hearing until next Friday. He asked the three either to appear in person or file further evidence at the time.

In congress the chairman's stand was both applauded and denounced. Rep. Mosier (D-Ohio) announced he had urged Morgan to remain "as a watch-dog, until congress can find the facts."

Senator Norris (Ind.-Neb) asserted, however, that Morgan's refusal to answer factual questions "pretty well demonstrates that he is not fit to be on the board."

Cancer Vanishes Under New Million Volt Ray Machine

BOSTON, March 12.—(AP)—Physicians who have been treating cancer patients under a million volt X-ray machine, the only one of its type in the world, report "surprising results" during the first six months of experimentation.

Under the treatment, doctors at Huntington Memorial Hospital reported in the New England Medical Joudnal today, certain forms of cancer had been found to disappear completely. They emphasized that their results could not be considered as a cure and stated only that on the basis of 100 cases treated, in certain types of cancer the symptoms had disappeared and the sufferers appeared well today.

They hope that ultimately treatments as intensive as those given with radium will be possible, and are looking forward to the development of a 2,500,000 volt X-ray machine. The treatment would be quicker and cheaper, they said, and pointed out that there is not enough radium to meet requirements.

The doctors cited the results achieved with their first case, a patient given "only a few weeks to live" when brought to the hospital. The patient showed improvement under the powerful machine, they said, and "today is clinically free from cancer."

Dixie Club Razed By Flames After Gasoline Blast

Flames originating from the explosion of a gasoline stove resulted in the razing of the Dixie Club on Highway 75 north of Corsicana about 9:30 Sunday night. Fire department officials estimated the loss at $4,000 to $5,000.

The flames were reported to have spread so rapidly that the owner, Curley Johnson, was unable to salvage even the money in his cash register. A large crowd was attracted by the spectacular fire.

Fire fighting equipment went to the scene but were forced to devote most of their efforts to preventing spread of the fire to other buildings. No water supply was available.

SECRETARY WALLACE SAYS IT WILL TAKE MANY YEARS FOR RESTORING FARM FAMILIES

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace said today it would take "many years" to restore destructive farm families—estimated at more than a million—to a self-supporting basis.

Testifying before the senate unemployment and relief committee Wallace said a "promising beginning" had been made toward helping these families regain stability through a rehabilitation program embracing relief grants, loans and technical guidance.

"We are fighting an economic disease which has been neglected for generations," the secretary of agricultur said. "We cannot hope to cure it over-night."

Wallace reported also that insufficient funds had been made available to assist all needy rural families. He said field officials of the farm security administration, agency directing the rehabilitation program, had reported they personally knew of more that 360,000 families eligible for loans in addition to the more than 60,000 who have received aid.

The amount of money made available for loans and grants so far this fiscal year, FSA officials said, was $73,433,000.

Wallace blamed "deep-rooted maladjustments in our rural economy" for the rural relief situation.

"The chief of these," he said, "were a prolonged period of ruinous farm prices, careless and unscientific tillage practices, unsound tenure systems, a heavy burden of debt, inadequate acreage, and a long-continued wastage of our farming capital by soil erosion."

The essence of the rehabilitation program, Wallace explained, consists in making small loans to needy farm families who cannot obtain credit from any other source, and accompanying these loans with training in farming practices to insure "the best possible use of the money."

RICHARD WHITNEY, PROMINENT BROKER, ADMITS HIS GUILT

PLEADS GUILTY TO GRAND JURY INDICTMENT CHARGING GRAND LARCENY

NEW YORK, March 14.—(AP)—Richard Whitney, head of the Richard Whitney and Co. brokerage firm and former president of the New York Stock Exchange, pleaded guilty today to a grand jury indictment charging grand larceny.

The indictment was procured by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, and accused the socially-prominent Wall Street financier of the theft of $105,000 from the estate of his father-in-law, George R. Sheldon.

Estimates of the shortages in the Whitney firm, which represented J. P. Morgan and Co., in many transactions, have run as high as one million dollars.

Whitney was president of the Stock Exchange, for five years, and long known as the "White Knight of Wall Street." He pleaded guilty in a low voice when arraigned in General Sessions court.

Whitney also has been accused of the theft of $100,000 worth of securities from the New York Yacht Club, of which he was treasurer, in an indictment brought by Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr.

Six distinct investigations have been launched in connection with the failure of Whitney's concern.

The charge to which Whitney pleaded guilty concerned his activities as trustee for the Sheldon trust fund, in which his wife, Mrs. Gertrude Sheldon Whitney, and her sister, Mrs. Mary Sheldon Murphy, were the main beneficiaries.

Securities constituting the trust fund allegedly were pledged by Whitney and the funds turned over to the account of his firm.

District Attorney Dewey, in response to a request by defense counsel Charles Tutte, said he had no objection to continuing Whitney at liberty on $10,000 bail.

AUSTRIA

entry into the capital of the German state he has absorbed into his expanded German reich.

Entering the city limits at 4:50 p. m. (10:50 a. m., EST.), he rode standing in an open automobile through six and a half miles of the streets of the old Austrian capital.

Church bells pealed for a quarter hour from the time he crossed the city limits.

Coming from Huetteldorf his car entered the main part of the city through Mariahilfer street to the Ring, where he entered the Imperial Hotel.

A hundred thousand persons around the hotel roared and demanded his appearance on the balcony of his suite.

Once was not enough. Again and again they demanded his return.

They continued to insist that he speak to them until it was announced he would be welcomed officially to Vienna at 11 a. m. tomorrow in the Heroes' Square and that then he would speak.

The frenzied welcome to Vienna was the climax of a 100-mile ride from Linz, where he had remained since arriving in Austria Saturday. The journey was like a royal procession.

In front of the Imperial Hotel men, women and children wept and kissed each other.

Enthusiasm Runs High.

Enthusiasm of the crowds far surpassed that of early Nazi days in Berlin.

Officers with Hitler said never had they seen such an unbounded release of joy.

On the edge of the city Hitler stopped his automobile and shook hands with everyone who could get near enough. He saluted and tactfully used the Austrian greeting, "Gruess Gott," instead of the Prussian "Guten Tag."

Hitler, who had changed to an open motor car during his 100-mile journey from Linz, entered Vienna standing up, bowing, smiling to hundreds of thousands lining the route.

Behind his slow-moving automobile was another car carrying Heinrich Himmler, chief of all German police, and other high officials of the reich.

The journey through a smiling countryside from Linz, where he had remained since his coming to Austria Saturday, was like a royal procession, through throngs of the fuehrer's exultant followers.

An Austrian government of his choice had prepared for his coming by announcing the absorption of Austria into the German nation, now stretching from the North Sea almost to the Adriatic.

Hysteria Has Gripped Jewery of Austria

By The Associated Press.

VIENNA, March 14.—Hysteria swept Vienna Jewry today as Austria became but a name in history, her land, her people, her army and her government now a state of Fuehrer Hitler's Nazi Germany.

As the fuehrer drove from Linz to the capital for a triumphal entry, hundereds of fearful Jews lined up before the Polish and other consultates to asks visas to enable them to leave the country.

A number of Vienna coffee houses were pdacarded with warnings on doors and windows: "Jews Not Permitted to Enter."

The postoffice announced every parcel intended for foreign countries would be opened and searched to prevent smuggling of money from the country.

Jewish druggists were told their medical supplies might be needed by hospitals. Some voluntarily empted their shelves and donated their goods.

It was announced not more then 1,000 schillings ($180) would be paid depositors from their savings accounts within the coming week.

Deposits made after March 12, Sunday, were exempt, as were accounts for wages, pensions, et al, with limitations.

Streets Show Change.

Vienna streets clearly showed the change by which the tempo of the goose step swept out the Anustrian nation with the resignation of President Wilhelm Miklas.

Tall, husky German police officers were on duty in the downtown sections. German army officers made sightseeing excursions afoot, and some visited St. Stephen's Cathedral.

German tanks and other motorized equipment continued rolling into the city.

The Austrian Legion, believed to number more than 20,000 Austrians who fled to Germany during the Dollfuss-Schuschnigg regimes, were trekking into the city for Hitler's arrival.

Factories, banks and government offices were closed at noon. Trains from the provinces were crowded with people come to see their fuehrer.

Stores were decorated with flowers and inscriptions of "Welcome to Our Fuehrer."

Austrian and German troops with many organizations early formed parade lines for a march preceding Hitler's arrival.

Tour of Triumph.

Today the Austrian-born Hitler made his tour of triumph a slow procession across the country to acknowledge a conqueror's welcome.

He left Vienna a poor student-laborer 20-odd years ago to fight upward to become Germany's ruler. He turned toward the ancient Hapsburg capital today as leader of both Germany and Austria, made one.

Brief, sudden and legal steps ended the sovereignty of ancient Austria yesterday.

President Miklas, who had opposed Nazification of his country, quit. Then Nazi Chancellor Arthur Seyss-Inquart took charge under an emergency clause of the constitution.

He thereopon decreed legislation by which Austria ceased to exist. The decrees were announced to the nation and through the streets the populace surged in wild celebration.

Eager lieutenants from Hitler's Berlin regime were rushing here today to join others who had come before to tear apart the Austria of the assassinated Chancellor Dollfuss and the resigned Chancellor Schuschnigg.

Just Another Province.

They were weaving Austria and her seven million inhabitants into the Nazi reich, as just another province like those which now form Germany.

Throughout the country new officials took charge, and new organizations parallel to those in Germany sprang up.

For the time being the old constitution remained, but Berlin-replacing the Old Austrian laws, made laws one after another were Seycz-Inquart signed decrees as "minister and president," instead of chancellor, indicating he would have the same status as the chief executive of Bavaria or Prussia.

Germany some seven centuries ago was ruled from Vienna but never before was Vienna ruled from Berlin. Bismarck tried it and provoked the Austro-Prussian war of 1866.

What the Iron Chancellor failed to do, the brown-shirted ex-Viennese accomplished with in a few hours, with the backing of his mighty army and airforce.

The purge of public offices and newspapers which began yesterday was almost over today.

Austrian Officials Held.

Hundreds of Austrians, who on Saturday were upstanding public officials, now are either behind bars or under house arrest.

Schuschnigg, at first reported to have fled the country, still was in his Belverdere castle early today, heavily guarded.

An automobile, bearing a foreign license, was confiscated by guards when it pulled up to the castle. The guards evidently suspected the ousted chancellor was trying to get away.

The plans for their purging evidently had been worked out in detail in advance, for not an unsupervised edition of any paper reached the public after the German army crossed the frontier on Saturday morning.

New, Nazi editors were on the job in Vienna by the time the first Nazi bombers arrived.

Austria's first reaction seemed one of extreme jubilation almost of delirium. Sunday in Vienna was hectic, vivid, comparable to the frenzy in every city, town and hamlet in the United States in 1918 on Armistice Day.

Masses of shouting, singing, flag-wavng Viennese milled and marched through the inner ring of streets, saluting and yelling the Nazi call:

"Sieg heil." (Hail victory.)

TAX BILL

felt the elimination of the closely-held corporation tax had cut $45,000,000 from prospective revenues while an increase in liquor taxes had restored only $25,000,000 of this.

The house voted to increase the liquor tax from $2 to $2.25 a gallon.

Harrison said he believed there was "no disposition" on the part of the senae committee to revise the surtax on closely held corporations. He said he hoped the present "nuisance" taxes, eliminated by the new revenue bill, would not have to be restored in order to provide sufficient receipts.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), a member of the committee, said he understood the treasury hoped to obtain $5,330,000,000 revenue under the bill, but experts believed it was $20,000,000 short in its present form.

New Deal for Blind Launched

Recent appointment of a man to the newly-created post of federal special agent for the blind heralds a new deal for those who have lost their sight. Joseph F. Clunk, 41, himself blind, who has had extensive experience in helping others in similar plight, is delegated to develop jobs for the blind and supervise the program. This is the first time that the blind have been admitted to the civil service, and it may prove an opportunity for them to get numerous government posts in the future. One of the chief objectives of Director Clunk will be to try and place blind workers in industry where there are many jobs they can perform with efficiency.

Hitler Coup to Aid Passage Naval Bill

WASHINGTON, March 4.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler's Austrian coup will facilitate passage of the administration's billion-dollar naval expansion program, legislators agreed today at the start of house debate.

Foes of the huge armament bill were openly pessimistic of the chances for blocking its enactment, and sought primarily to modify its provisions.

Representative Maverick (D-Texas), one of the opponents, declared the program would involve the United States in European turmoil.

"Present conditions demand more than ever that we be moderate instead of wild," he said. "To go off on a war-preparing spree and go navy crazy is to get into war."

The measure is designed to carry out President Roosevelt's recommendation of a 20 per cent expansion of the fleet to offset the piling up of armaments by foreign powers. It would:

1. Authorize a $30,000,000 experimental fund for the navy, $3,000,000,000 of which would be earmarked to build a new dirigible.

3. Restrict the navy to a policy of non-aggression, but commit the United States to maintenance of a fleet powerful enough to defend the Atlantic and Pacific coasts from simultaneous attacks by any single power.

Diplomatic Relations Will Undergo Change

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP)—American diplomatic relations with Austria will undergo a fundamental change, informed observers said today, as a result of Austria's union with Germany.

The American legation in Vienna probably will be converted into a consulate headed by a counsul-general instead of a minister.

Here, the Austrian minister, Edgar L. G. Prochnik, was awaiting official instruction, but legation attaches said unofficially his duties probably would be taken over by the German embassy.

The United States has not had a minister in Vienna for six months, because of the death of Minister Grenville T. Emmet. American affairs in Austria are handled at present by Charge d' Affaires John C. Willey, who is expected to become the consul-general.

Diplomatic matters concerning Austria would be placed in charge of Hugh Wilson, ambassador to Germany, who formerly was assistant secretary of state.

The state department was keeping an attitude of non-interference toward Germany's occupation of Austria.

Nazi Economists Plan Future Austria

BERLIN, March 14.—(AP)—Hard-headed nazi economists were busy today planning in minute detail the economic future of annexed Austria.

Lead, graphite, silver, gold, copper and magnesium are found in Austria and they will aid the German Reich on the path to economic independence.

While the masses in Austria and Germany were celebrating jointing of the two German-speaking nations with Fuehrer Hitler as their leader and in command of their combined armies, German economists gave attention to the practical aspects.

Their job is to bring Austria under the four-year plan to make the Reich independent of foreign markets in providing for its needs. The economic ministry already is preparing measures to effect the economic co-operation.

Echoing his Fuehrer, Field Marshal Goering yesterday announced Austro-German union, predicted its endorsement by the Austrian people in forthcoming plebiscite, and pointedly told the world it was strictly Germany's business.

"This question," said Goering, acting chancellor in Hitler's absence in Austria, "is something which the German people alone in their entirely must decide."

Mussolini Extends Hitler Friendship

ROME, March 14.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini today gave Reichsfuehrer Hitler his personal reassurance of Italian friendship.

In a telegram to Hitler at Vienna, Il Duce declared "my attitude is determined by the friendship between our two countries consecrated in the (Rome-Berlin) axis."

Mussolini's communication was in reply to Hitler's earlier message that he would "never forget" Il Duce's attitude toward his annexation of Austria.

Italians, swerved by a controlled press from a stand for independen Austria to endorsement of Austro-German union, seemed bewildered by the sudden turn of events.

Ever since the World War they had learned to think of an independent Austria as essential to the safety of Italy's frontiers.

Overnight they have seen the idea disavowed.

The long-dreaded union of Austria and Germany now is set forth as the necessity which Italy approves.

Confronted with this, many Italians privately confessed their bewilderment.

"Why did we fight the World War?" some of them are asking.

Catholics here were concerned, because Catholicism is a link between the Austrian and Italian people and that religious tie helped to heal Italo-Austrian war scars.

Exiled German Sees Rift.

KANSAS CITY, March 14.—(AP)—Thomas Mann, exiled German writer, foresees a possible rift between Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini as a result of the nazi unification of Germany and Austria.

Mann, in an interview here last night, said Hitler's action in annexing Austria without waiting for a plebiscite announced by Kurt Schuschnigg, disposed Austrian chancellor and nazi foe, may prove an entering wedge to split the two dictators.

"Mussolini, who obviously advised Schuschnigg to hold the proposed plebiscite, is furious with Hitler," Mann said.

"This creates an interesting situation. It may be that England did not interfere in Austria in order to weaken the Rome-Berlin axis. By separating Hitler and Mussolini England would lessen the force of advancing fascism.

Want Danzig Made German.

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, March 14.—(AP)—Nazis of Danzig, already masters of this nominally free and formerly German city of 400,000 persons, today pleaded through their newspaper organ for union with the expanding German reich.

Envious nazi eyes were turned toward Austria. An editorial in the Danziger Vorposten, official nazi organ, expressed this viewpoint:

"Who will blame us that our glances now go across the border with envy? Now Danzig remains the only German commonwealth outside the reich's borders.

Starts Triumphal Journey.

WITH HITLER, En Route TO VIENNA, March 4.—(AP)—Fuehrer Hitler started a triumphal journey today to enter as ruler the Vienna that denied him success as a painter.

It was a bright, sunny spring day—customary Hitler luck on big occasions—and there was the prospect of similar sunshine all the way from Linz to Vienna.

To the cheers of the populace, the caravan of automobiles rolled out of Linz at 10:45 a. m. and expected to reach Vienna at 4 p. m. (9 a. m., EST.)

Emperor's Secretary Shot.

VIENNA, March 14.—(AP)—Baron Karl Von Wekmann, Emperor Karl's last secretary, a prominent leader of the now liquidated monarchist movement, was reported today to be dying of bullet wounds.

The baron had been confined in monarchist headquarters under heavy guard since Friday.

When S. S. (Blackshirt) Nazi troops called this morning to take him to their headquarters for questioning, an S. S. source said, Baron Von Werkmann drew a pistol and threatened his captors.

One account was that he shot himself. He suffered severe wounds in the abdomen and thigh

Insurgents Of Spain Smashed Aragon Defense

HENDAYE, France (At the Spanish Frontier), March 14.—(AP)—Spanish insurgent troops entered Alcaniz, only 50 miles from the government's Mediterranean coast, military advices said, after smashing through its Aragon defenses.

A combined drive by all three insurgent armies on the eastern front pressed the government line back to within 20 miles of the southern border of Tarragona province and to within 10 miles of Masen Raimundo, where principal highways fork toward the coast.

Alvaniz was described as the greatest military center of the Spanish government army in the north.

Besides Alcaniz, insurgent dispatches reported capture of Caspe, to the north, and the seizure there of much war material and many prisoners.

Alcaniz fell, dispatches said, after insurgent motorized colmuns occupied Calanda, hub of the government communication system.

Sick and Convalescent.

The condition of Reuben Milligan, a patient in the P. and S. hospital, was unchanged today.

Al Capone Must Serve Jail Term After Alcatraz

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP)—Alphonse Capone, former Chicago gang leader, failed in the supreme court today in his effort to escape serving a one-year term in the Cook county jail at the expiration of a 10-year sentence he now is serving at Alcatraz.

The court refused to interfere with a judgment against Capone by the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals.

The justices delayed until at least March 28 their decision on constitutionality of the 1935 act regulating public utility holding companies.

After a brief session, during which it delivered only one minor opinion, the court adjourned for two weeks.

Flash! Poker Rules Are Being Changed!; Royal Flush Topped

CINCINNATI, March 14.—(AP)—Deal a round just for practice boys, to poker rules are being changed.

The royal flush, until now the hand that topped all others in a penny-ante game, is second best with the new five-suit deck. The "five of a kind" in the best hand.

Officials of a playing card company here announced today that all card making concerns placed the new decks on the market this week.

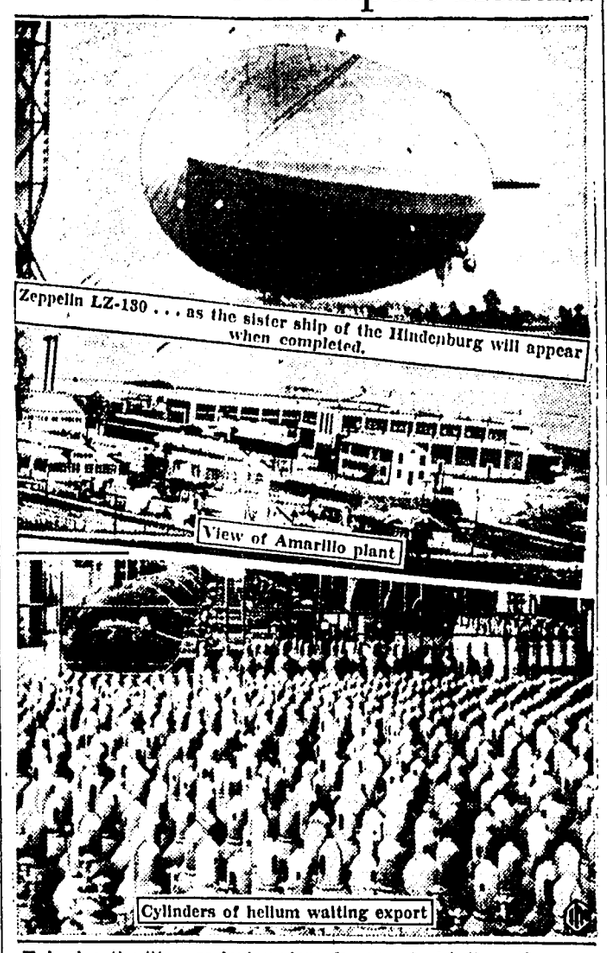

The poker hands, officials explained, will rank thus: Five of a kind, straight flush, four of a kind, flush, full house, straight, three of a kind, two pair and one pair. The extra suit in the 65-card deck is the "eagle."

David Ralston, son of Mr. and Mrs W. C. Ralston, has received his license to practice law and Saturday was administered the oath by Doyle Pevehouse, district clerk. Mr. Ralston finished his studies in the law school of the University of Texas at mid-term and will receive his diploma at the annual commencement exercises in June.

The new attorney has opened an office at 114 1-2 West Fifth avenue.

United States to Export Helium

Federal authorities are laying plans for export of helium, the non-inflammable gas used to inflate dirigibles. Under terms of an act passed by congress last September, foreign interests may purchase the gas if it is not put to military use. The United States government produces the world's supply of helium, extracting it from gases underlying the Texas panhandle region. The gas became a subject of international interest following explosion of the hydrogen-filled Hindenburg. The German zeppelin corporation, in making overtures for early purchase of the gas, indicates that it is desired for use in the LZ-130, sister ship of the ill-fated Hindenburg.

RELIEF PROBE

A California economist predicted crop reduction policies of the new act would swell relief demands.

Paul S. Taylor, of the University of California, Berkeley, told the senate unemployment committee drought and increased use of tractors had swept a horde of homeless farm families westward.

Taylor said farm workers were twice as great a relief hazard as farmers, because of an overrupply of labor, seasonal employment, destruction of crops, and increased mechanization of farms.

Increased use of tractors in the cotton belt, he added, was sweeping "tenant farmers, sharecroppers, and farm laborers" from "the land and into relief."

This process of sweeping farmers from the land is now under way in Western Texas, Southwestern Oklahoma, the black wax prairie of Texas, the Arkansas and Mississippi deltas, Taylor asserted.

is a new broom with which to make a clean sweep of the Allred-Thompson gang out of the state capitol, and I've a negro over there in East Texas that is already making that broom.

"For a long time, Jimmie's crowd have been sucking political eggs and hiding the shells and I know where they have been hiding them.

Free Plane Transportation.

"Further, I herewith agree to furnish him free airplane transportation as we go round over Texas campaigning against each other. That will save the tax payers a lot of money because he has been using National Guard airplanes at the expense of the people of Texas while I have been using my own. All I want him to do in return is to furnish the ice water and a few good palm leaf fans.

"Now, like the governor, I also have two brothers that are lawyers, but I have made arrangements with both of them to live in Honduras while I am governor so I wont' have any trouble with them practicing influence. In fect, I have already got them studying Honduras time tables and a Spanish dictionary.

"If the governor doesnt' hurry up and decide whether he and Thompson are going to run on the track as either single or double entry, the blooms are all going to fall off the dogwood trees.

Old Age Pensions.

"I am firmly convinced that the time has come in this state for the politicans — all of them—to stop playing "dart-eye" with the old people on the old age pension question.

Jimmie has been handling the old age pension problem exactly like the fellow who said he was in favor of giving everybody $60 a month after they were 200 years old instead of giving them $200 a month, as Dr. Townsend suggested, after they were 60.

"One of the propositions is as ridiculous as the other, but I want to say to the old folks of Texas that I, for one, am in favor of placing a tax upon the princes of political privilege in this state which will at least guarantee the old folks a decent living."

The patrol captain said no reports had been received of theft of another automobile in which the gunman might have fled after abandoning the one he used to keep Southern Texas officers on a mad, meandering trial after his gun had wounded three.

As a precaution, however, Miller said roads were being blockaded at Greenville and Terrell in event the youth had succeeded in securing other transportation.

Miller said the flight machine had been sighted earlier in the day crossing a bridge at Shreveport and that evidently the man had doubled back on his trail.

Newspapers Are The Backbone

- As a consultant on advertising Mr. William A. Thomson, Director of the Bureau of Advertising. New York City, gives the following advice to his clients as it appeared in Advertising Age, New York City:

- "I nominate newspaper advertising for the backbone of any advertising effort. Interest in newspaper reading was never at a higher pitch than now. World events and happenings at home, that touch our self-interest and our personal welfare as intimately as at any time in our history, create a keen hunger for each new newspaper of each day. Newspaper circulations stand at an all-time peak, showing how the average citizen relies for daily service upon a free press that can get all the news and need have no fear about printing it. More than ever, newspapers are the service stations at which the people recharge their mental and their conversational batteries. Information, amusement, advice, inspiration, comfort—is there any service based upon human need or emotion that the modern newspaper does not touch?"

- "So the advertiser who uses newspaper space to tell his story to the public is dealing with a unique messenger which reaches everybody reached by all other forms of communication and many reached by none other; a medium through which people form opinions and which, because of the basic interest in all the details of the day's news, appeals to eyes that are keen and minds that are receptive. Here is the ideal vehicle for this educational wave.

- "If you will watch newspapers in various parts of the country, you will see increasing numbers of institutional advertisers. This is especially true in cities where industrial units are using advertising to show what they mean in the life of each particular community. Some advertisers are handling their messages in a national way. One of the newcomers into this field is the Aluminum Company of America, which is advertising in newspapers of every state in the Union. This company's campaign may well be studied as a model for a simple recital of a few basic facts. The copy looks like good department store advertising, which is a compliment, because department stores know how to bring in customers. The words chosen are simple and convincing and the central thought of each advertisement is that fifty years ago, when the company started in, aluminum was $8.00 a pound and now it is 20c a pound."

Beauty Diary

LEMON BLEACHING.

If you are in need of a skin bleach, try this simple one Miss Forbes gives in today's column.

Bleaching done with lemon juice is just as effective as that from specially prepared lotions, and far less drying. It has other advantages, too, as one knows all about it, and it costs very little. Even if it causes a smarting sensation, one knows is just needs to be weakened down with some water. It has a number of uses that will save time and money, once these are tried out. It will keep the finger tips completely free of stains, as it may be used all around and under the nails to keep them bleached; this also lenthens the time between manicures. An orangewood stick, with a wee bit of cotton around it, will be needed for this, and it also may help much, as it will serve for pushing back the cuticle. Run water over the fingers when all this is finished, to get rid of the juice. A squeezed-out lemon may be used, too, for the finger tips, as it is so easy to dig these into moist pulp. A tiny bottle of the clear juice, though, will be found a convenient way to handle this.

E. K. Forbes

As a bleach for the skin, or for a hair rinse, the whole lemon may be cut and used up at the time. For the skin, the juicy pulp may be rubbed all over the face, neck and hands or wherever there is need for a bleach. For the rinse, the juice of one or two lemons should be squeezed into the last rinse after the shampoo. As lotion, especially for the hands, over the entire year, make up the following: Four ounces of strained lemon juice, two of rose water, or boiled water ,and two of glycerine, of a very fine grade. In place of the rose water, you may use witch hazel. Some prefer it.

M. F. T.—You need not neglect yourself at all, and should not, for all women who wish to make a success of business know that they must keep looking well in every particular. You will have to arrange your time so that you will be able to have enough of it for your beauty treatments. As you are not likely to do this of a morning, do all you must at night. Warm baths, massage, care of the scalp, all relax one and are fine before retiring.

If you have any beauty problems you cannot solve, write for Edna Kent Forbes' three NEW beauty booklets: 1, "Fifteen Minutes a Day for Beauty," (2) "The Finer Points of Beauty," (3) "Eating And Bathing for Beauty." Send ten cents (in stamps) for EACH booklet, to pay for printing and handling and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope (s.a.s.e.). Address Edna Kent Forbes, c-o this paper.

New York Cotton Steady.

NEW YORK, March 14.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 1 lower to 4 higher. Disappointing cables were offset by the favorable acreage allotment referendum. March 8.92; May 8.95; July 9.01; Oct. 9.10; Dec. 9.12; Jan. 9.13.

The vote of about 9 to 1 of cotton farmers in favor of acreage quotas Saturday influenced sentiment Foreign orders were mixed but seemed to be on the boyuing sid on balance.

There were more commission house buying as May recovered from 8.94 to 9.00. Shortly after the first half hour that month sold at 8.97, and the list was 2 to 8 points net higher.

Prices held a few points above Saturday's close later in the morning. Trade price fixing and scattered support absorbed near month offerings from Liverpool. Other foreign orders continued on the buying side and May at midday was holding at 8.96, with the list 2 to 5 points net higher.

New Orleans Cotton Steady.

NEW ORLEANS, March 14.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 1 point net lower to 2 higher here today.

Foreign markets were better than expected and helped the undertone in early dealings.

March contracts opened at 9.05 bid, May at 9.00, July at 9.13, Oct. at 9.22, Dec. at 9.25 and Jan. 9.26.

Enough trade developed towards the end of the first half hour to lift prices 4 to 5 points above the previous close.

Feb. consumption figures of 427,528 bales were about in line with expectations and had little effect on prices. The total compared with 434,740 in Jan. and 665,677 bales in Feb. last year.

Prices fluctuated narrowly during the remainder of the morning but managed to maintain small net gains under new buying of new crop months and short covering in old crop positions.

Near mid-session, March contracts sold at 9.10, May at 9.12, July at 9.15, Oct. at 9.22 and Dec. at 9.25, or 1 to 6 points under the previous close.

There was a general belief in trade circles that with the marketing quota referendum out of the way conditions in the cotton industry would be more settled.

The turnover Saturday was 36,150 bales and open commitments 424,250 bales, an increase of 2,100 bales from the previous day.

The market remained within the early range in the final hour and closed steady at net declines of 6 to 8 points.

VICTIM OF ALAMO MASSACRE LEFT AN INTERESTING LETTER

CORPUS CHRISTI, March 11.—(AP)—D. W. Cloud, great-great uncle of Carrol L. Slack of Corpus Christi, died in the Alamo but he left another story relating to that immortal shrine in the hands of his relative.

Slack has a copy of a letter written at New Nachitoches, La., Dec. 26, 1835, to a brother while Cloud was on his way to Texas and death.

The first part is taken up with a description of the country through which Cloud was travelling, and with his near decision to locate in Arkansas since there he "could have made money rapidly, if blessed with health and life, dockets and fees being large."

He continued: "The reason of our pushing still farther on must now be told, and as it is a master one it will suffice without mention of any other. Ever since Texas unfurled the banner of for 'Liberty or Death' our hearts freedom and commenced warfare have been enlisted in her behalf." Cloud then referred to the invitation of the Mexican government to settlers in Texas and of the "call by that government for the settlers to submit to depotism."

"If we succeed," Cloud concluded, "the country is ours. It is immense in extent and fertile in its soil, and will reward amply all our toils. If we fail death in the cause of liberty and humanity is not cause for shuddering. Our rifles are by our sides and choice guns they are. We know what awaits us and are prepared to meet it."

Cloud's name is inscribed on a monument in Austin and also in the Alamo as one of its heroes.

Secrecy Surrounds Fleet's Maneuvers

SAN PEDRO, Calif., March 14.—(AP)—Changes in announced plans of the commander-in-chief of the United States fleet found the bulk of the 105 warships lingering at San Diego and San Pedro bases today.

Under rigid wartime secrecy the ships were under sealed orders today. Some had slinked silently to sea. Others were ready for instant departure.

STATE HOME LADS WON OVER TEAGUE ATHLETES SATURDAY

The schedule practice track and field meet involving the six members of this B district of the University of Texas Interscholastic league at the State Home Saturday afternoon failed to materialize. Teague High thinly-clads was the only squad to appear and in a dual meet in nine events, the State Home Lads won eight frist places.

Teague annexed the first place in the discus throw while the Lads took first honors in the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard dash, 880-yard run, mile, shot put, high jump and broad jump.

The Lads have won four practice meets and appear to be one of the strongest teams in recent years at the Home. The Home crew is the favorite to annex the Navarro county meet later in the season.

Coach Red Clem is attempting to arrange a dual meet with the Waco High Tigers for this weekend, but definite arrangements had not been perfected early Monday morning.

MARKET LEADERS GOOSE-STEP INTO RECOVERY RANKS

NEW YORK, March 14.—(AP)—Armament stocks, with steels, coppers and aircrafts in the van, sidled into a rally in today's market.

Gains ranged from fractions to 2 or more points at the best. Transfers were around 400,000 shares, one of the smallest 5-hour volumes in three years. Only 30,000 shares changed hands in the fourth hour.

NEW YORK, March 14.—(AP)—Stock market leaders goose-stepped into the recovery ranks today, many pushing up fractions to 2 or more points before meeting profit selling resistance.

The climb was slow, however, and extreme advances were reduced near the fourth hour.

Armament issues, including steels, aircrafts, coppers, rubbers, and specialties pointed the way for the come-back.

While the absorption of Austria by Germany was believed by market observers to have lessened dangers of an immediate outbreak of hostilities in Central Europe, it was generally believed the recent turn of affairs would stimulate rearming on a wide scale. Renewed attention, consequently, was given stocks of companies that stand to benefit by the sale of war materials.

Bolstering sentiment in Wall Street also was the growing belief the senate will further revise the administration's tax bill and, as urged by senate leader Pat Harrison, possibly drop the much-disputed undistributed profits levy altogether.

Domestic bonds were given a lift, but some European loans developed weakness. Wheat futures tumbled as war talk lessened. Cotton, at the same time, improved. European currencies, especially the French franc, fell sharply in terms of the dollar.

Curb Stronger.

NEW YORK, March 14.—(AP)—Industrials, chemicals and oils were in the forefront of a sizeable rally in the curb market today with gains ranging from minor fractions to more than 2 points.

Babcock and Wilcox, manufacturers of heavy machinery, rose around 2 1-2 and advances of around one were posted for Jones and Laughlin Steel and Nachman Spring. Fractional improvement was the rule among a large number of other active shares, including American Syanamid "B," tepec Oil. Utilities were about International Petroleum and Pan-steady.

A. AND M. COLLEGE CHECKS ON INCOME 20 FARM FAMILIES

EIGHT OF THIRTEEN FAMILIES EXCEEDED NET INCOME GOAL OF PROJECT

COLLEGE STATION, March 14.—(Spl.)—Net income of 20 Texas farm families for 1937 ranged from $312 on a 48-acre cotton farm in Central Texas to $19,404 on a 1,000-acre diversified farm in Northwest Texas, analysis of their "whole farm" demonstration plan showed Texas A. and M. College extension service specialists.

Under the "whole farm" plan, begun early in 1937, a few farms and ranches were selected where all phases of extension work could be concentrated as demonstration projects. Improvements were scheduled "from the front gate to the back pasture" on a total of 363 farms in 116 counties. The specialists' analysis covered 20 of the outstanding demonstrations.

As a first step in establishment of a whole farm or ranch demonstration, a family council mapped out a five-year schedule of the farm and home. Goals for of improvements for every phase income, debt retirement, production and conservation of food and feed, changes in farm operations and other matters were set.

Eight of 13 families exceeded the net income goals they set, and five of 14 families reported gains in net worth or savings of more than $1,000 each.

Average Was $722.

Contributions of the farm or ranch to the family living totalled $14,444, an average of $722 for each of the 20 farms. In two cases the contributions to the family living exceeded the cash income from the farm.

The group as a whole spent almost as much for automotive transportation as for clothing. The families spent an average of $37 for medical care, $20 for recreation and $56 for community welfare.

A less complete analysis of the entire group of 363 families in the demonstrations showed soil conservation or improvement measures, taken on 84 farms and ranches, were the most popular projects. Landscaping the home grounds ranked next, 51 families carrying out this project. Eleven of the 51 planted windbreaks, the A. C. Wrights, of Lubbock county, setting out 1,000 trees.

Changes in farm or ranching operations carried out in accordance with the goals included addition of better breeding stock, development of home orchards, change to pure line or pedigreed seeds and improvement of pasture.

Built New Homes.

Demonstrators built a total of 12 new homes, three new rent houses and 42 new farm structures. They also added a total of 61 new bedrooms, bathrooms, clothes closets or pantries to their homes and repaired 34 farm buildings. New equipment added by the 363 families included 15 new water systems, 123 lighting systems, three sewer systems, five water tanks for livestock, 20 trench silos, nine pieces of farm equipment and many miles of fencing.

Striking results reported on individual demonstrations included those of Lee Stewart, of Wood County, who found that his five acres of fruit trees and grapes netted him a profit of $209 while his 24 acres in cotton brought him only $185.

Archa D. Smith, of Harris county, more than doubled the carrying capacity of his 23-acre pasture by grubbing out underbrush and mowing the weeds. He found that cotton he fertilized yielded 1,006 pounds an acre while unfertilized portions of his field produced only 513 pounds an acre. His cotton earned a premium of $4 a bale because he planted pedigreed seed.

The W. R. Treeces, of Sherman county, reaped 17 1-2 bushels of wheat an acre on a 400-acre tract they terraced. The crop on an adjoining, unterraced field was abandoned because there wasn't enough moisture to maintain the wheat.

C. A. Williams, of Hall county, noted an increase of more than 30 per cent in yields of cotton and grain sorghum as a result of 10 miles of terraces he built on his farm.

MOONEY WINS FIRST STEP IN CONTINUAL FIGHT FOR FREEDOM

SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 12.—(AP)—Tom Mooney won the first step of his newest fight for freedom from San Quentin prison early today when the California state assembly adopted a resolution intended to grant him a legislative pardon.

Approval of the unique measure climaxed two tempestuous days during which Mooney and Police Captain Charles Goff of San Francisco appeared before the assembly to tell their divergent stories of Mooney's conviction for the 1916 preparedness day bombing in San Francisco that killed ten and injured 40 persons.

Adoption of the measure by a vote of 41 to 29 still left in doubt whether it would release Mooney from life imprisonment. The pardon still must be approved by the senate which turned down a somewhat similar measure last year.

Grave doubts also have been expressed as to the legislature's authority to grant a pardon.

The fight before the legislature was protracted by efforts of Mooney supporters to boost their total from 39, which they first recorded Thursday, to the necessary majority of 41. (There are 80 seats in the assembly.)

The needed 41 votes to adopt the resolution were obtained at 12:35 this morning when assemblyman Jefferson Peyser, San Francisco changed his ballot from no to yes.

Peyser switched his vote, he said, not because he had changed his views on the issue, but because of a proposal advanced by Mooney supporters to bring assemblymand, M. I. Cronin, from San Francisco, where he is ill in a hospital, to Sacramento by airplane to vote.

Nomination Of Arnold Approved Sub-Committee

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP)—A senate judiciary sub-committee approved today the nomination of Thurman W. Arnold to be assistant attorney general in charge of the justice department's anti-trust division.

There were no votes against Arnold, but Senators Borah (R-Idaho) and Burke (D-Neb) refrained from balloting. Senators Norris (Ind-Neb.) Neely (D-WVa.) and O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) voted in favor of the nomination.

Borah and Burke said they were withholding their votes to consider the nomination further. They will be entitled to vote again when the nomination is considered by the full judiciary committee, the next step toward Arnold's confirmation by the senate.

Borah questioned Arnold closely during a hearing on his nomination regarding his views toward enforcement of the anti-trust laws.

Arnold replied that he believed in "vigorous and fair" enforcement.

NAVARRO COUNTY VOTES IN FAVOR OF MARKETING CONTROL

Navarro county by a majority in excess of nine to one Saturday approved the cotton quotas referendum for the 1938 cotton crop situation, according to complete official returns as compiled and announced by H. C. Robinson, county agent, Saturday night from the eleven beats in the county. There were 3,737 for and 236 against the 1938 proposition.

The measure was adopted decisively in each of the beats in Navarro county. Powell, however, headed the list in approving when 233 ballots were cast for the proposition and none were shown against.

Following are the results by beats:

TRACY AND RAINER VOTED MOVIE STARS OF 1937 FILM YEAR

HOLLYWOOD, March 11.—(AP)—Spencer Tracy, a likeable mug from Milwaukee, and Luise Rainer, a shy Austrian brunette, were hailed today as the No. 1 stars of the 1937 film year.

Seventeen gold statuttes, the "Oscars" symbolic of outstanding achievement in the industry, were passed out last night by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. And the two that counted most—for the best acting—went to Tracy and Rainer.

Recovering at a hospital from an operation, ARracy got the news from his wife that his characterization of a Portuguese sailor in "Captains Courageaus" had been rewarded.

"It is the nicest thing thats' happened to me in my whole life," he said.

Miss Rainer, a bird-like little figure in a light dress, with her black bangs windblown across her forehead, was present at the academy banquet when it was announced she had won a statuette for her Chinese peasant role in "The Good Earth."

Last year she also won for her impersonation as Anna Held in "The Great Ziegfeld." Her double victory is unprecedented in the ten year history of the academy acting awards.

The award for the best picture of 1937, as determined by a poll of 15,000 film workers including extras, went to Warner Brothers' "The Life of Emile Zola." There had been little argument that it was one of the most powerful motion pictures ever to deal with the subject of social justice.

Two awards for best supporting performances were given Joseph Schildkraut, the martyred Captain Dreyfuss of "Zola," and Alice Brady, the heroic mother of "In Old Chicago." A broken ankle kept Miss Brady at home last night, but friends telephoned her the good news.

Leo McCarley's direction of "The Awful Truth" earned him the statuette annually accorded the top megaphone-wielder.

Even Charlie McCarthy, the wooden wiescracker, was remembered.

The academy decided Edgar Bergen Charlie's vocal master, should have a small wooden "Oscar" for his outstanding comedy creation.

Charlie, perched on Bergens' arm, looked over the golden array of statuettes and his own tiny lumber memento.

"Knicknacks, huh!" he commented.

W. C. Fields presented Mack Sennett, old-time king of bathing beauty comedies, a special award for service.

Walt Disney, Mickey Mouse's poppa, received two awards—one for development of a multi-plane color camera and the other for his cartoon, "The Old Mill."

Bob Burns, his hillbilly drawl a contradiction to his smart dinner jacket, emceed the program. He heard honored celebrities one after another, declare any tribute really belonged not to themselves, but to their studio. Finally, Burns disrupted the modest atmosphere.

"You know," he said, 'I think someone should come out and say what they really tell their wife when they go home at night:

"If it handn't been for me, they wouldn't have had a picture."

Married at Court House.

C. L. Kirk and Miss Helen Davis, both of Purdon, Route 1, were married at the court house Thursday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Judge A. E. Foster.

RICHARD WHITNEY UNDER INDICTMENT CHARGING THEFT

FORMER STOCK EXCHANGE HEAD CHARGED WITH APPROPRIATING SECURITIES

NEW YORK, March 11—(AP)—The immediate rearrest of Richard Whitney, five times president of the New York Stock Exchange, on a new charge of grand larceny was ordered today by State Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr.

The present charge is based on a complaint of Comodore William A. W. Stewart, of the New York Yacht Club, prominent lawyer and former friend of Whitney, that Whitney "unlawfully" took from a safety deposit box $103,000 worth of bonds belonging to the club, of which Whitney had been treasuter.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—Financial difficulties of the bankrupt firm of Richard Whitney and Co. were tracked back today by a member of the firm to an unsatisfied demand last fall of the New York Stock exchange that Whitney surrender funds in the Exchange "gratuity fund," maintained for the benefit of widows and orphans of exchange members.

F. Kingsley Rodewald, senior partner under Whitney, told investigators for Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., that Whitney, former president of the New York Stock Exchange, could not immediately produce the securities because he had pledged some of them on his own personal loans at banks.

Bennett's inquiry into the tangled financial affairs of Whitney and his firm was entirely separate from the grand jury investigation being pressed by Manhattan District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, which resulted yesterday in Whitney being indicted for grand larceny in connection with funds held in trust of his father-in-law.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—An indictment charging Richard Whitney, former president of the New York Stock Exchange with the theft of $100,000 in securities today transformed the collapse of the brokerage firm he headed into a case for the criminal courts.

The indictment, returned by a New York county grand jury yesterday in a lightning action by Thomas E. Dewey, district attorne, accused Whitney of first degree grand larceny in the misappropriation of the securities from a trust fund of which he was executor and co-trustee.

The heavy-set, grave Whitney, five times president of the stock exchange and Wall Street leader through the critical years of the depression, was charged with appropriating securities of "an aggregate value of about $105,000" for personal loans, from a fund established by his father-in-law, the late George R. Sheldon, leaving in the fund only a single share of Bethlehem Steel Company stock with a market value of $55.

While Whitney silently went through the police routine of being booked and fingerprinted, and posted bail, inquiries into the collapse of Richard Whitney and company went ahead on five other fronts, with at least two of them holding a possibility of additional criminal action.

These two were in charge of Gregory F. Noonan, assistant United States attorney, and Ambrose V. McCall, the state attorney generals assistant.

In addition, the stock exchange the securities and exchange commission and Irwin Kurtz, referee in bankruptcy, were looking into the rapidly-expanding ramifications of the case.

What Witnesses Testified.

Most of the testimony thus far made public came from the McCall investigation. Witnesses there testified that Whitney:

Did not tell his partner, Edwin D. Morgan, Jr., until last Sunday that bankruptcy threatened their firm.

Transferred to the firm a personal debt of an old note held by "certain" J. P. Morgan company partners, and having a present face value of $474,000.

Transferred to his personal custody $125,000 of securities belonging to the exclusive New York Yacht club, of which he had been treasurer, without notice to the club.

Lonely Figure.

During the ten minutes necessary for his formal surrender in the court of general sessions, Whitney stood to one side, a lonely, motionless figure hands clasped behind his back, face grim, his head slightly bowed.

He was taken to the Elizabeth Street police station for booking.

There, far down in the murky East Side, Lieutenant Simon P. Breen, asked "Has he been searched?"

Sergeant Senecker, of Dewey's detective squad, looked shocked, but managed to stutter out "No, not yet."

A detective turned sheepishly to Whitney, who smiled and opened his overcoat. Still smiling, he shook his head to the question, "Have you got any knives?" The officer delved into pockets, patted his hips, and announced "No property."

Whitney's only words during the proceeding were surprised "Thank you's" to Sergeant Breen who shook his hand after the booking with the comment, "Mr. Whitney I'm sorry to see you in this trouble and wish you the best of luck" and than "The Whitneys have always had a good name."

Houston Man Pleads Guilty

HOUSTON, March 11.—(AP)—A plea of guilty has been entered by C. R. Munger on charges of conspiracy to violate the federal securities act.

Munger, office manager of Sterling and Baker, bankrupt brokerage firm, was released under $5,000 bond.

Federal Judge Robert T. Erwin deferred sentence until the trial of five others, set for Monday, is completed. Among the defendants are Frank Sterling, president of the firm, and Harry V. Baker, vice president. Three other employes also are under indictment.

Total Nation's Unemployed Set At 10,450,000

WASHINGTON, March 11—(AP)—The business recession has taken a toll of 4,300,000 jobs in the last four months, federal economists estimated today, bringing the nation's unemployed to a total of about 10,450,000.

That total, based on a revision of figures prepared for the president's committee on economic security, is the highest in three years.

After reaching a peak of 15,071,000 in March, 1933, the country's unemployed dwindled to a minimum og 6,132,000 in July, 1937, just before the current recession began.

In October, the unemployed numbered 6,145,000, jumping to 7,177,000 in November, 8,080,000 in December, and 10,181,000 in January.

Regardless of business trends, the federal statisticians expect the coming of spring weather will stimulate seasonal outdoor work sufficiently to offeset any new increases in industrial unemployment in the next few months.

LEVIN L. JESTER BURIED IN OAKWOOD SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Funeral services for Levi Leven Jester, aged 87 years, who died at his home in Dallas Friday, were held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First Methodist church in Dallas with interment in Oakwood cemetery here. The rites were conducted by Rev. W. C. Martin, Bishop John M. Moore and Dr. C. C. Selecman, president of Southern Methodist University. The body was brought overland to Corsicana.

A native of Waverly, Ill., Mr. Jester came to Texas and Navarro county in 1858. After attending Trinity University at Tehuacana and being engaged in business for a time, he organized banks at Corsicana, Houston, Tyler and Dallas. He retired a number of years ago and traveled extensively.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Minnie Cain Jester, Dallas; four sons, Herbert W. Jester and John C. Jester, both of Dallas, and Leven Jester and Ralph K. Jester, both of Los Angeles; two grandchildren, Mrs. George B. Rice and Herbert W. Jester, Jr., both of Dallas, and other relatives.

Active pallbearers were C. L. Jester, Beauford H. Jester, Dr. H. B. Jester, Guy Hamilton, Lowry Martin and R. P. Bates, nephews, all of Corsicana.

Honorary pallbearers were members of the board of stewards and the Brotherhood Sunday School class of the First Methodist church in Dallas.

Sutherland-McCammon Funeral Home directed the local arrangements.

SECRETARY WALLACE ANNOUNCED STARTING OF LOANS ON WOOL

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace announced today inauguration of a $50,000,000 loan program to stabilize the price of wool and help producers carry heavy stocks and an anticipated heavy 1938 clip until markets improve.

The loans will be made by the Commodity Credit Corporation, agency lending similar assistance to growers of cotton, corn, tobacco and other farm commodities under provisions of the new farm act.

The loan rate on the principal classes of wool will be made at between 15 and 22 cents a pound on a grease basis at Boston. Agricultural Adjustment Administration officials said the loans were expected to average approximately 17.5 to 18 cents per pound grease basis to producers, and about 75 per cent of the pre-war parity price of wool..

All producers, including, under approved regulations, producer-owned pools, will be eligible for loans, the officials said.

The fund set aside for the loans will cover, officials said, about 250,000,000 pounds of wool.

The loans will be for a 10-month period provided that does not make the maturity date later than May 31, 1939. They will bear 4 per cent interest. Although loans will be made for the 10-month period, producers may sell the wool at any time by repaying the loans and accrued storage and handling charges, officials explained.

AAA officials declared the loan was not a "price-fixing" loan, but a marketing loan designed to prary income, as under existing law.

Estate and gift taxes:

A combined exemption of $40,000 would be granted from the estate and gift taxes, whereas there now is a $40,000 exemption from each.

Excise taxes:

The bill would repeal excess taxes applying to dentrifrices and toilet soaps, furs, phonograph records, sporting goods, cameras and lenses, chewing gum, matches, and imported Norway pine, Northern white pine, white spruce and Engelman spruce.

It would repeal a producer's tax on crude petroleum and the tax on the sale and refining of crude oil, and impose a new levy on imported pork.

MAJOR PROVISIONS TAX REVISION BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

CAPITAL GAINS AND ESTATE, CORPORATIONS AND GIFT FEATURES EXPLAINED

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(AP)—Here are the major provisions of the tax revision bill approved by the house:

Corporation taxes:

1. Corporations have net incomes of $25,000 and less a year would pay income taxes of 12 1-2 per cent on the first $5,000, 14 per cent on the next $15,000 and 16 per cent on the last $5,000. They would pay no undistributed profits tax.

2 Corporations having net incomes of excess of $25.000 and distributing no profits in dividends would pay a minimum 20 per cent tax on their net income. This compares with a 32.4 per cent maximum under present law.

Such corporations would get a "dividends paid" credit if they distributed any profits. The credit would be 4 per cent of the amount of dividends disbursed and would operate to produce a minimum tax of 16 per cent if all profits were paid out.

Capital gains and losses:

Capital gains and losses would be separated into short-term and long-term categories for the purpose of distinguishing between speculative and investment transactions.

Short-term losses would be allowed to offset only short-term gains and not ordinary income or long-term gains.

When short-term gains exceeded short-term losses, the excess would be added to the ordinary income of the taxpayer and taxed at the applicable normal and surtax income tax rates.

Long-term losses could offset only long-term gains, except that $2,000 of the excess of losses could be charged against ordinary wool producers against the effect of unfavorable conditions in the wool industry while the 1938 clip is moving to market.

They said study of the wool situation indicates that present wool prices were "unduly depressed" and that the rates established would enable producers to market their wool in an orderly manner and at better prices than they would receive if they had to sell all their wool at shearing time. Officials said producers may obtain loans on wool stored at Eastern and Western concentration points after the wool has been classified and stored under supervision of the Commodity Credit Corporation.
